

Venus Rules the Fourth House

The Fourth House is your foundation. It is the rock upon which you build your life. It represents your home, both literally (land, buildings, and real estate) and metaphorically (your private life and personal sanctuary).

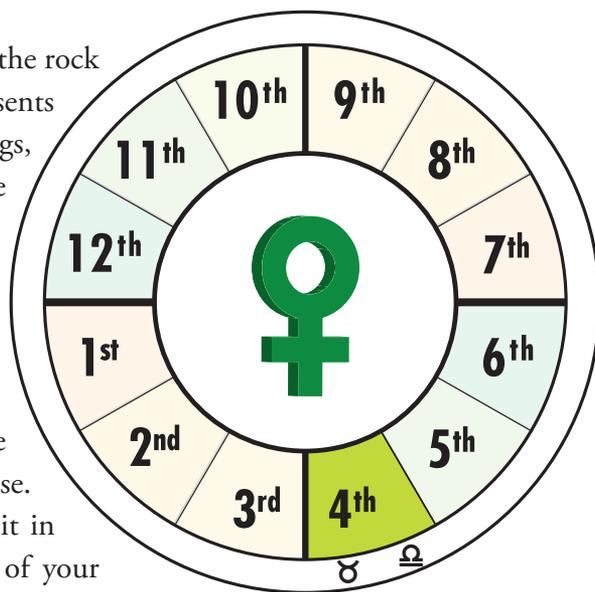

The Fourth House is your foundation.

Your foundation is the bedrock of your life. It's the part of your life that must be squared away before you can devote any time or energy to anything else. When something shakes your foundation, you feel it in every part of your life. It's an earthquake, and all of your structures will be disrupted by the shock waves. If your foundation is not solid, or the disruption peaks at the top of the Richter scale, the structures of your life can come tumbling down, leaving you surrounded by rubble. Nothing can protect you from "the big one" if it hits, but a solid, stable foundation can help you to withstand quakes of smaller magnitude. You may emerge bruised, and things may fall off your shelves, but if your foundation is stable, you can escape without significant structural damage to your life.

The planet that rules the Fourth House is the foundation of your life. All that you hope to be, do, express, or create builds on this foundation. The expression of the planet is what your foundation is really about, but it may not be what you recognize as your foundation. When you look at the story of your life and your "little r" reality, your life has an external foundation. It could be your health, your home, your job, your relationship, your children, your finances, or your creative expression (to name only a few examples). It may be obvious to you, or you may not have given it much thought. But whenever anything disrupts the foundation of your life, you know it. The alarm sounds, and you feel the aftershocks everywhere. Addressing that disruption becomes your top priority. Whatever the disruption appears to be about, it's really about an issue meeting the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

The Fourth House is your sanctuary.

Traditionally, the Fourth House represents your home, but "home" doesn't capture the importance of the Fourth House. The Fourth House is more than a shelter or a place where you can store your stuff. The Fourth House is your sanctuary. It's the place where you can drop your defenses and be yourself without worrying about what anyone else thinks. Your sanctuary is where you go to rest, recover, and recharge your batteries. Your sanctuary is your sacred, private, personal space. You expect that what happens in your sanctuary will remain hidden from the world, known only to those who have earned the privilege of seeing you undefended, and who show you their undefended self in return. Your external sanctuary is your personal, private space. Unless you live alone, your sanctuary is likely to be a smaller part of your actual home, like your bedroom or office. The less privacy you have, the more critical it becomes that you protect and enjoy your internal sanctuary.

The planet that rules your Fourth House is your actual, internal sanctuary. When you meet the needs of that planet and maintain right relationship with it, you are able to meet your own needs and take care of yourself. You are able to find rest, protection, and nourishment, and recover from the demands of the world. Maintaining right relationship with this planet keeps you connected to your internal sanctuary. It's what allows you to recharge your batteries on the fly, even if you can't physically retreat from the world.

Venus Rules the Fourth House

Your validation needs are your foundation; your foundation is your validation needs.

Love and appreciation is the foundation of your life. All that you hope to be, do, express, or create builds on this foundation. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, your foundation is rock solid and unshakable. It creates stability in all parts of your life. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, your foundation is weak and unstable. No matter how much progress you make in your life, even the smallest disruption brings everything crashing down like a house of cards. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, any rejection or lack of recognition is a major crisis. It shakes your foundation, and you feel the aftershocks in every part of your life. You have to drop everything to address the crisis and stabilize your foundation, no matter how inconvenient that may be. You want to have a solid foundation for your life because you believe that will mean the structures in your life will survive a major earthquake. And when you don't have to worry that your life might come crashing down around you, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic in all of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to your foundation. You want to be loved and appreciated for the parts of your life that make up your external foundation. If you don't experience enough validation or approval, your foundation will begin to crumble and it will disrupt every other part of your life.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your foundation. Take a closer look at the story of your life and identify your external foundation. It could be your health, your home, your job, your relationships, your children, your finances, or your creative expression (to name only a few examples). You know something is a part of your foundation because when anything messes with that part of your life, the alarm bells go off and you feel the tremors everywhere. Now consider how your need for love and appreciation relates to your external foundation. Begin to consider those parts of your life from the context of your validation needs, and explore how you can enhance your awareness of love and appreciation. Instead of expecting other people to notice and approve of your foundation, express your personal gratitude for every part of your foundation on a daily basis. Not only will this strengthen your actual foundation, but it will also protect the parts of your life that make up your external foundation. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more stable the foundation of your life will be.

Your validation needs are your sanctuary; your sanctuary is your validation needs.

Love and appreciation is your sanctuary. It's your home, your private retreat where you go to rest, recover, and recharge your batteries. You want to experience love and appreciation because you expect it to give you relief and respite. As far as you're concerned, love and appreciation are personal and private. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, you always have access to your sanctuary and you can easily take care of your personal needs and your private life. You can balance your own personal needs with the demands of the world. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you never quite feel at home. You find it difficult to unplug from the world and take care of yourself. You do not have adequate protection from the stress and demands of your life. You feel ungrounded, unsettled, and unstable. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, it creates disruptions in your actual home and personal space that make it difficult for you to relax. These can range from the physical (clutter, disorder, damage) to the social (lack of privacy, conflict with the people you live with). You want to be able to retreat to your private sanctuary where you can hide from the world and focus on your personal needs because you believe when you are able to rest and recharge your batteries, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum

But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic in all of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to your sanctuary. Your home and your personal space is your showplace. When you invite other people into your personal space, you expect them to express love and appreciation for it. And if you don't receive those deposits in your Validation Need Account, you will have trouble enjoying your sanctuary and recharging your batteries there.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your sanctuary. Begin by taking control of the physical aspects of your personal and private space. Clear out any clutter, and straighten things up. Decorate the space with things that you care about and that remind you that this is your space. It's important that you look forward to spending time in your private space. Clarify the boundaries of your space and take charge of who you invite into your space and when. And while you're doing this, become more conscious of how love and appreciation inhabits and expresses through your personal and private space. Make a point to express gratitude for everything in your sanctuary on a regular basis. When you state how much you love and appreciate your sanctuary, it will make significant deposits in your Validation Need Account. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more you will be able to protect your privacy so you can rest and recharge your batteries.

Your Core Values are your foundation; your foundation is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are the foundation of your life. All that you hope to be, do, express, or create builds on this foundation. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, your foundation is rock solid and unshakable. It creates stability in all parts of your life. But when you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, your foundation is weak and unstable. No matter how much progress you make in your life, even the smallest disruption brings everything crashing down like a house of cards. And when you don't have to worry that your life might come crashing down around you, you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. You especially expect to recognize your Core Values in your foundation, and you are frequently disappointed. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your experience of your foundation. That's the Core Value that is the most important to you right now. You need to discover what it really feels like so you can begin to recognize it in your life.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your foundation. Take a closer look at the story of your life and identify your external foundation. With Venus, the Ruler of the Fourth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your validation needs, your Core Values, your foundation, and your sanctuary. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to experience love and appreciation, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to create a stable foundation for your life, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to protect your private sanctuary so you can rest and recharge your batteries, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.
