

Venus Rules the Ninth House

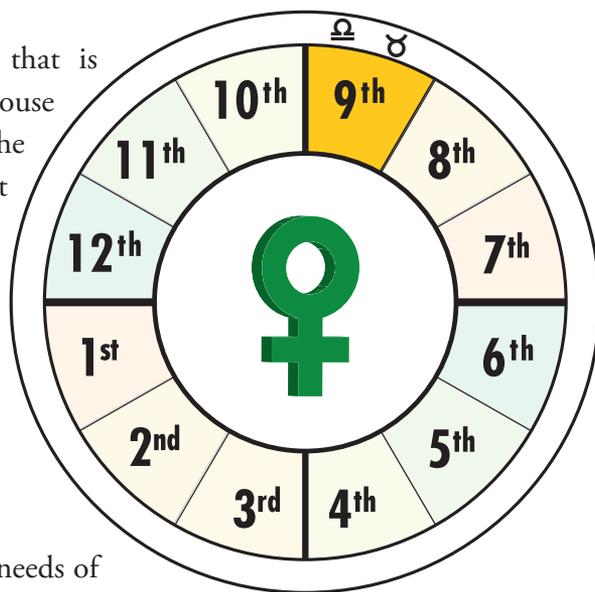

The Ninth House relates to everything that is foreign, distant, and unfamiliar. It's the house of religion, and by extension, it's become the house of wisdom and higher knowledge. As such, it relates to teachers, clergy, lawyers, and other experts, the guardians of wisdom, and the representatives of higher authority. Specifically, the Ninth House relates to your attitudes and expectations of these people and what they represent to you.

The Ninth House is your danger zone.

The Ninth House is your danger zone. Meeting the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House always involves venturing into the unknown. Your Ninth House exists beyond the limits of your comfort zone, and because it's unknown and unfamiliar, it's always a little bit unsafe. Your danger zone has a geographical element: it includes distant travel to unfamiliar places, and cross-cultural experiences. But mostly, the Ninth House is full of surprises. You have no reference for it, and you don't know what to expect. It's a blank page. Everything about the Ninth House is new, and everything about it expands your awareness and your worldview. This can be enticing and exciting, but it's still potentially dangerous, which is why engaging with your Ninth House always makes withdrawals from your Safety Need Account.

Balance, as always, is the key. When you encounter your Ninth House, you have no frame of reference, and the only way you can understand it is to create a reference for it. The more time you spend in the Ninth House, the more familiar it becomes, and once it becomes familiar, it's no longer new (or dangerous). A part of your Ninth House danger zone has moved to your Third House comfort zone.

The planet that rules your Ninth House is your danger zone. Every time you express this planet or try to meet the needs of it, you have to go beyond what you already know and discover something new. You don't have to reinvent the wheel every time. You can develop mastery with the ruler of your Ninth House. But you are always conscious that however much you know about that Universal Puzzle Piece, there is always more to learn. And each time you access or express the needs of the ruler of your Ninth House you need at least the spark of something new to ignite the fire.

The Ninth House is your beliefs.

The Ninth House is your beliefs. Not only do you believe in the expression and the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House, but those needs—that Universal Puzzle Piece—influence what you choose to believe and how you create those beliefs. Beliefs shape your “little r” reality, so they’re quite important. Beliefs influence your choices, and beliefs influence your expectations. And beliefs, like reality, have nothing to do with truth. You can believe in something and make it real, but if that belief lacks truth and can’t be supported, it won’t make you happy.

Critical thinking is one of the most important tools of the Ninth House. Critical thinking helps you to question and understand why you believe the things that you believe. It can’t determine the level of truth behind a belief, but it can at least provide objective, rational, logical justification for the belief. Most of your beliefs originate with experts and authorities. Your parents program you with the basic operating system of your beliefs, and as you move through life, you accept the ideas of your teachers, religious leaders, and other experts such as doctors and scientists. You adopt beliefs because you trust the expert, and at least at the time, you lack the tools to question and validate the belief for yourself. But you must be willing to question your beliefs, no matter how long you’ve held them. Your understanding of reality changes as you acquire new information and experiences. It’s important that your beliefs support you rather than hinder you. And remember: You get to choose what you believe.

Venus Rules the Ninth House

Your validation needs are your danger zone; your danger zone is your validation needs.

Love and appreciation is your danger zone. Managing the balance in your Validation Need Account always involves venturing into the unknown. No matter how much prior experience you have with love and appreciation, each time you encounter it, you expect something new and different. This lack of familiarity is the danger in your danger zone: because it’s new, it’s always a little bit unsafe. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, you are eager to explore the unknown and expand your horizons. You approach each new experience with an open mind, knowing that each new idea or concept introduces new possibilities into your life. You welcome any opportunity to try something new, to pursue adventure, and to break out of your familiar routine and your comfort zone. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you fear the unknown, and are reluctant to explore too far beyond the familiar. You want adventure and excitement so long as there’s no actual risk. On a personal level, when you don’t feel loved or appreciated, you don’t even notice that you rarely leave your comfort zone and instead live your life within a bubble. Everything you experience is filtered, sanitized, pre-digested, and guaranteed not to challenge or upset you in any meaningful way. You choose the Las Vegas experience of Paris over the real thing, and what's worse, you may not care about the difference. You want the courage to explore the unknown because when you expand your worldview, you have a better understanding of your place in the Universe. And you believe that when you know where you belong in the Universe, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic in all of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to danger zone. When you venture into the unknown, you expect other people to recognize you for your courage and to appreciate you for the new insights you have acquired. The expectation of love and appreciation is your main motivation to explore your danger zone. If you're not going to experience significant deposits in your Validation Need Account, it's not worth the risk.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your danger zone. Begin by considering your attitudes towards your danger zone. Notice how you approach the unknown and how you feel when you encounter something new or unfamiliar. It probably falls somewhere on the spectrum that runs between fear and excitement. Now consider your encounters with the unknown from the perspective of love and appreciation. The next time you step into your danger zone, take love and appreciation with you as your guide, and notice how your experience of the unknown changes. This is how you can shift the needle away from fear and towards excitement. Approach each new experience from the attitude of gratitude, and when in doubt, express love and appreciation. You can do this every time you encounter something new in any part of your life, and this will maintain the minimum balance in your own Validation Need Account. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more you welcome new and unfamiliar experiences.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and your danger zone resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and your danger zone resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Take a few moments and consider your most recent experiences of love and appreciation. What did you learn about it that you didn't know before? How far did you have to venture into your danger zone to learn that, and how much time did you spend in the unknown?

Are you willing to explore your danger zone to learn more about love and appreciation? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where does your danger zone begin with your validation needs? What are the limits of what you know, and what is it that you don't yet know or understand?

How do you approach your danger zone with love and appreciation? Do you jump into the middle of it or do you test the waters cautiously and then retreat?

What do you love and appreciate the most about your danger zone? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about your danger zone?

How do you express love and appreciation through your danger zone?

How do you love and appreciate other people for their danger zone?

Your validation needs are your beliefs; your beliefs are your validation needs.

Your validation needs are your beliefs. Not only do you believe in love and appreciation, but love and appreciation also influence what you choose to believe and how you create those beliefs. Experts and authorities play an important role in how you create your beliefs. You are inclined to look to experts and authorities to show you how to experience love and appreciation. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, you are always willing to question and test your beliefs. You embrace critical thinking and you appreciate that each fact you accept is only true within a given context. New information can cause you to change your position and adjust your beliefs. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you cling to your beliefs and are unwilling to question them. You listen to experts and authorities because they validate your current positions and support your arguments, not because they offer objective truth or raise important questions. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, you become susceptible to all forms of propaganda and misinformation. You value emotion and bias over logic and reason. You seal yourself inside an air-tight bubble so that no objective truth can ever cause you to question your reality. Since you have no way of knowing if your beliefs are true, you call on experts and authorities to support your arguments and convince others that your beliefs are sound. You believe that when nothing challenges your beliefs, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic in all of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to your beliefs. You need other people to share your beliefs, because when others share your beliefs and agree with you, you feel loved and appreciated. When other people don't share your beliefs, however, you may take it personally and feel rejected and invalidated. You also need to become conscious of your beliefs about how you express and experience love and appreciation because these may interfere with your ability to feel loved or appreciated.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your beliefs. Choose a specific belief and begin by uncovering the origin of that belief. Identify when you first encountered the idea, and who the expert or authority was that presented it to you. Take a few moments to question the belief and determine if it still serves you. If adhering to that belief does not contribute to your overall happiness, consider abandoning it. Finally, explore how the belief relates to love and appreciation for you. If the belief doesn't help you to know the truth of love and appreciation and to become more skilled at both expressing and experiencing love and appreciation, drop it and choose a new belief. Remember that beliefs are real, but they're not automatically true. If your beliefs lack truth, they won't make you happy no matter how many people agree with you. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more you can support your beliefs.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and your beliefs resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and your beliefs resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some of your beliefs about love and appreciation? Where did those beliefs come from? How long have you carried them?

Choose one example of a belief you have about love and appreciation. Does that belief support you or contribute to your happiness? If not, are you willing to drop it and replace it with one that does? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where do you turn for advice about love and appreciation? Who are the experts and authorities that have the answers you need?

How do you use love and appreciation to choose your beliefs? How do you use love and appreciation to question your beliefs?

What do you love and appreciate the most about your beliefs? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about your beliefs?

How do you express love and appreciation through your beliefs?

How do you love and appreciate other people for their beliefs?

Your Core Values are your danger zone; your danger zone is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are your danger zone. Recognizing the presence of your Core Values always involves venturing into the unknown. No matter how much prior experience you have with your Core Values, each time you encounter them, you expect something new and different. This lack of familiarity is the danger in your danger zone: because it's new, it's always a little bit unsafe. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, you are eager to explore the unknown and expand your horizons. You approach each new experience with an open mind, knowing that each new idea or concept introduces new possibilities into your life. You welcome any opportunity to try something new, to pursue adventure, and to break out of your familiar routine and your comfort zone. But when you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, you fear the unknown, and are reluctant to explore too far beyond the familiar. You want adventure and excitement so long as there's no actual risk. On a personal level, when you fail to notice your Core Values, you don't even notice that you rarely leave your comfort zone and instead live your life within a bubble. Everything you experience is filtered, sanitized, pre-digested, and guaranteed not to challenge or upset you in any meaningful way. You choose the Las Vegas experience of Paris over the real thing, and what's worse, you may not care about the difference. You want the courage to explore the unknown because when you expand your worldview, you have a better understanding of your place in the Universe. And you believe that when you know where you belong in the Universe, you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. You expect to recognize your Core Values in your danger zone, and you are frequently disappointed. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your experience of your danger zone. That's the Core Value that is the most important to you right now. You need to discover what it really feels like so you can begin to recognize it in your life.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your danger zone. Begin by considering your attitudes towards your danger zone. Notice how you approach the unknown and how you feel when you encounter something new or unfamiliar. It probably falls somewhere on the spectrum that runs between fear and excitement. Now consider your encounters with the unknown from the perspective of your Core Values. The next time you step into your danger zone, take your Core Values with you as your guide. Remember the truth that your Core Values are present at all times and in all things—including your danger zone—and notice how your experience of the unknown changes. This is how you can shift the needle away from fear and towards excitement. And you can do this every time you encounter something new in any part of your life. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more you welcome new and unfamiliar experiences.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and your danger zone resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and your danger zone resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Take a few moments and consider your most recent experiences of your Core Values. What did you learn about it that you didn't know before? How far did you have to venture into your danger zone to learn that, and how much time did you spend in the unknown?

Are you willing to explore your danger zone to learn more about your Core Values? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

Where does your danger zone begin with your Core Values? What are the limits of what you know, and what is it that you don't yet know or understand?

How do you approach your danger zone with your Core Values? Do you jump into the middle of it or do you test the waters cautiously and then retreat?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in your danger zone? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from your danger zone? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Your Core Values are your beliefs; your beliefs are your Core Values.

Your Core Values are your beliefs. Not only do you believe in your Core Values, but your Core Values also influence what you choose to believe and how you create those beliefs. Experts and authorities play an important role in how you create your beliefs. You are inclined to look to experts and authorities to show you how to recognize the presence of your Core Values in all things. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, you are always willing to question and test your beliefs. You embrace critical thinking and you appreciate that each fact you accept is only true within a given context. New information can cause you to change your position and adjust your beliefs. But when you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, you cling to your beliefs and are unwilling to question them. You listen to experts and authorities because they validate your current positions and support your arguments, not because they offer objective truth or raise important questions. On a personal level, when you fail to notice your Core Values, you become susceptible to all forms of propaganda and misinformation. You value emotion and bias over logic and reason. You seal yourself inside an air-tight bubble so that no objective truth can ever cause you to question your reality. Since you have no way of knowing if your beliefs are true, you call on experts and authorities to support your arguments and convince others that your beliefs are sound. You believe that when nothing challenges your beliefs, you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. You expect to recognize your Core Values in your beliefs, and you are frequently disappointed. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your experience of your beliefs. That's the Core Value that is the most important to you right now. You need to discover what it really feels like so you can begin to recognize it in your life. You will need to become conscious of your beliefs about your Core Values, specifically your beliefs about what those Core Values look like. Those beliefs are what interfere with your ability to recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your beliefs. Choose a specific belief and begin by uncovering the origin of that belief. Identify when you first encountered the idea, and who the expert or authority was that presented it to you. Take a few moments to question the belief and determine if it still serves you. If adhering to that belief does not contribute to your overall happiness, consider abandoning it. Finally, explore how the belief relates to your Core Values for you. If the belief doesn't help you to know the truth of your Core Values and to become more skilled at recognizing the presence of your Core Values, drop it and choose a new belief. Remember that beliefs are real, but they're not automatically true. If your beliefs lack truth, they won't make you happy, and you can't support them. Choose to believe the truth that your Core Values are present at all times and in all things, and let that belief guide you. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more you can support your beliefs.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and your beliefs resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and your beliefs resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some of your beliefs about your Core Values? Where did those beliefs come from? How long have you carried them?

Choose one example of a belief you have about your Core Values. Does that belief support you or contribute to your happiness? If not, are you willing to drop it and replace it with one that does? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

Where do you turn for advice about your Core Values? Who are the experts and authorities that have the answers you need?

How do you use your Core Values to choose your beliefs? How do you use your Core Values to question your beliefs?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in your beliefs? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from your beliefs? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Venus, the Ruler of your Ninth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Ninth House is your unfamiliar environment. This is where you rely on expert advice and guidance, and where you pursue higher knowledge and understanding. No matter how familiar the affairs and resources of this house are, you can always find something new and surprising about them. The house that Venus occupies also tells you where and from whom you expect to receive validation.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Venus that explores the house that Venus, the Ruler of your Ninth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Venus, the Ruler of your Ninth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Venus as the ruler of your Ninth House, and notice how the house Venus occupies influences your understanding.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the First House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your First House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to experience love and appreciation, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to support and defend your beliefs, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Second House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Second House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to experience love and appreciation. You will spend money and use your talents to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will spend money and use your talents to venture into the unknown to acquire new information. And you will spend money and use your talents to support and defend your beliefs. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Third House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Third House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to support and defend your beliefs, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Fourth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you experience love and appreciation, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you recognize the presence of your Core Values, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you venture into the unknown to acquire new information, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you support and defend your beliefs, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Fifth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to experience love and appreciation, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to support and defend your beliefs, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Sixth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to support and defend your beliefs, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Seventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to experience love and appreciation for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to recognize the presence of your Core Values for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to venture into the unknown to acquire new information for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to support and defend your beliefs for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Eighth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to experience love and appreciation. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to venture into the unknown to acquire new information. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to support and defend your beliefs. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the in the Ninth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to experience love and appreciation because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to recognize the presence of your Core Values because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to venture into the unknown to acquire new information because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to support and defend your beliefs because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the Tenth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to experience love and appreciation, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to recognize the presence of your Core Values, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to support and defend your beliefs, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the Eleventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to experience love and appreciation so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to recognize the presence of your Core Values so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to venture into the unknown to acquire new information so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to support and defend your beliefs so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in the Twelfth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Ninth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your validation needs, your Core Values, your danger zone, and your beliefs. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to experience love and appreciation, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to venture into the unknown to acquire new information, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to support and defend your beliefs, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.