

Venus Rules the Tenth House

The Tenth House relates to your success, recognition, and professional advancement. It's your fame and your reputation, and your public image. And in the modern world, that often translates to your social media profile.

The Tenth House is your reputation.

The Tenth House is your reputation: it's how you are seen by society. It's your fame and your public image. It's also your presence on social media, both personal and professional. The planet that rules your Tenth House is what you are famous for. It's responsible for your greatest accomplishments and also for the gaffes you can never seem to live down or put behind you. Whether the world thinks favorably of you or not depends on how well you meet the needs and learn the lessons of the planet that rules your Tenth House. Because of the advent of social media and the Internet, much of your life is public. If you have any presence online, whether it's Facebook, LinkedIn, or OkCupid, you have a brand that you present to the world. You have a certain degree of fame because people whom you have never met personally know about you, and they also have an opinion of you. How much you take advantage of this is up to you, but even if you keep a low profile in your life, it's important to keep control of your message. The planet that rules your Tenth House is both the message itself and also the carrier wave that broadcasts your message.

The world expects you to live up to the promise of the planet that rules your Tenth House. This is your brand, and if you don't meet those needs and handle that Universal Puzzle Piece with care, everyone will know about it. But the more skillful you are about meeting those needs, the more control you have over the volume of your message. When you are in right relationship with the planet that rules your Tenth House, you can determine how public you want to be, and therefore have more influence over your privacy. But if you choose to, you can use the platform of your reputation to promote other interests. When you meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House, the world will listen to what you have to say. When you don't meet the needs of that planet, you lose control over your message and the world (and the Internet) gets to decide on your brand, usually in the comments section.

The Tenth House is your advancement.

The Tenth House is also how you advance in the world, both socially and professionally. This is closely related to your reputation, because a good reputation is often essential for advancement, but it's not entirely the same thing. This expression of the Tenth House (and of the planet that rules your Tenth House) has to do with awards, honors, and promotion. It encompasses many of the things that you may associate with success. Your reputation relates to your relative level of fame, but advancement relates to the tangible, material rewards that come from that fame.

The cusp of the Tenth House is the most public and visible point in the chart, and the planet that rules your Tenth House is the vehicle that helps you attain the highest peaks in your life. Often, the accomplishments related to the Tenth House are professional and related to your career, but it's important not to view your life only in terms of your job or the things that you do to make money. When you look back on your life, you are the most proud of the accomplishments of your Tenth House. Often you are noticed, recognized, and honored by other people for these achievements, but not always. These achievements always involve meeting the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House and understanding how that Universal Puzzle Piece fits in your life. And even if you don't experience social or professional advancement, you definitely advanced as a person.

Venus Rules the Tenth House

Your validation needs are your reputation; your reputation is your validation needs.

Love and appreciation is your reputation and your public image. Your personal brand is validation, and that's the message that you project to the world through social media. Whether the public has a favorable impression of you or not depends on how well you embody and express love and appreciation. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, the world sees your best qualities and has a good impression of you. You have strong brand recognition and good word of mouth, and you easily deliver on the promises you make. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you lose control of your message. If you're lucky, you fail to make an impression on the world and no one notices you. If you're not lucky, you get noticed, but for all of the wrong reasons. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, you may try to "live your best life" on social media, but you don't fool anyone. The irony is that if you invested the time and energy in your actual life that you invest in curating the public appearance of your life, you would have something worth sharing with the world. You care about your public image and reputation because you believe that when the world thinks well of you, then you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to your reputation. Obviously you want people to have a good opinion of you and to love and appreciate your brand. But you also care about maintaining the reputation that the public loves and appreciates you. This can cause you to create a public image that is designed to get people's approval, but that may not be an authentic expression of your identity. That will not end well for you. Even if people love your public image, you won't experience that love and appreciation on a personal level.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your reputation. Take a close look at your presence on social media. Consider what it is that you share with the world, whether on a personal or professional platform. Include how you comment or respond to other people's posts, and whose brands you follow and admire. Now step back and review some of your recent social media activity to see what messages you are broadcasting about love and appreciation. If someone else had shared your posts, what would you think about how they handle their Validation Need Account? Are they sharing from a place of self-esteem or are they thirsty for other people's approval? Once you have a clear, objective reference for your brand and how the world may view it, you can begin to refine your message. It's okay to share your best self and set high expectations for how you embody love and appreciation, so long as you can deliver on those promises. You can do that by paying attention to love and appreciation in every area of your life, and developing your gratitude muscles by expressing love and appreciation on a regular basis. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more the world will notice your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and your reputation resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and your reputation resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How would you like the world to see your relationship to love and appreciation? What could you share on social media that would draw attention to your experience of love and appreciation?

Take an objective look at what you have been sharing on social media, both in your posts and in your comments. Does the message of your love and appreciation show up the way that you would like it to? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where do you notice and admire love and appreciation in other people? How does it show up in their public image? How does that influence your own choices of what to share in public?

How well do you embody love and appreciation in your public image? What kind of feedback about it do you get on social media?

What do you love and appreciate the most about your reputation? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about your reputation?

How do you express love and appreciation through your reputation?

How do you love and appreciate other people for their reputation?

Your validation needs are your advancement; your advancement is your validation needs.

Validation is your advancement: it's the key to your success, both socially and professionally. Love and appreciation are what you bring to everything you do that sets it apart and adds unique value to it. It may not be obvious, but it makes all the difference. The more you experience and express love and appreciation, the more you will stand out from the crowd. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, success comes easily to you. You are recognized, honored, and promoted for your work. While you enjoy the approbation, it's never your main objective. For you, success is about the satisfaction you experience from the work itself. But when you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you struggle to advance in your professional and social life. Time and again, you are passed over for promotion. The next rung on the ladder is always just out of your reach. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, you care far too much about your social and professional status. You focus on getting awards and recognition rather than on the quality of the work you do. The quality of your work suffers, and you never feel like you get the recognition that you deserve. You care about recognition and advancement because you believe that when you are successful enough, then you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. But when you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic of your relationships transforms. You especially need to experience love and appreciation related to advancement. On some level you base your self-worth and your self-esteem on your professional, social, and personal status. You expect that advancing up the ladder entitles you to more love and appreciation. But the only advancement that matters is how you progress with meeting your own Validation Needs and not looking outside of yourself for validation and approval.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your advancement. Look back on your life and identify an example of a time when you were recognized, promoted, awarded, or honored. Review your story of what it was that you did to deserve that recognition, and what it took for you to succeed. Now consider that story from the perspective of your validation needs, and identify where and how love and appreciation showed up for you. The actual source of your success and the reason you were recognized and honored was how you embodied and expressed love and appreciation. Figure out what you did differently with love and appreciation in the situations where you were promoted and awarded, because that's the secret of your success. Notice how you did not pursue external validation or look for approval from others, possibly because you were too busy expressing love and appreciation. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more success you will enjoy.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and your advancement resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and your advancement resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How have you been recognized, honored, or promoted because of love and appreciation?

What accomplishments in your life are you the most proud of? What role did love and appreciation play in those achievements?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How does love and appreciation contribute to your professional success? Where do you embody it in your professional life?

What do you love and appreciate the most about your advancement? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about your advancement?

How do you express love and appreciation through your advancement?

How do you love and appreciate other people for their advancement?

Your Core Values are your reputation; your reputation is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are your reputation and your public image. Your personal brand is your Core Values, and that's the message that you project to the world through social media. Whether the public has a favorable impression of you or not depends on how well you recognize the presence of your Core Values in all things. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, the world sees your best qualities and has a good impression of you. You have strong brand recognition and good word of mouth, and you easily deliver on the promises you make. But when you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, you lose control of your message. If you're lucky, you fail to make an impression on the world and no one notices you. If you're not lucky, you get noticed, but for all of the wrong reasons. On a personal level, when you fail to notice your Core Values, you may try to "live your best life" on social media, but you don't fool anyone. The irony is that if you invested the time and energy in your actual life that you invest in curating the public appearance of your life, you would have something worth sharing with the world. You care about your public image and reputation because you believe that when the world thinks well of you, then you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. You expect to recognize your Core Values in your reputation, and you are frequently disappointed. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your experience of your reputation. That's the Core Value that is the most important to you right now. You need to discover what it really feels like so you can begin to recognize it in your life.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your reputation. Take a close look at your presence on social media. Consider what it is that you share with the world, whether on a personal or professional platform. Include how you comment or respond to other people's posts, and whose brands you follow and admire. Now step back and review some of your recent social media activity to see what messages you are broadcasting about your Core Values. If someone else had shared your posts, what would you think about how they handle their Core Values? Do they recognize the presence of their Core Values or are they pointing out the absence of them? Once you have a clear, objective reference for your brand and how the world may view it, you can begin to refine your message. It's okay to share your best self and set high expectations for how you embody your Core Values, so long as you can deliver on those promises. You can do that by paying attention to your Core Values and recognizing that they exist in every area of your life. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more the world will notice your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and your reputation resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and your reputation resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How would you like the world to see your Core Values? What could you share on social media that would draw attention to your Core Values?

Take an objective look at what you have been sharing on social media, both in your posts and in your comments. Does the message of your Core Values show up the way that you would like it to? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

Where do you notice and admire your Core Values in other people? How does it show up in their public image? How does that influence your own choices of what to share in public?

How well do you embody your Core Values in your public image? What kind of feedback about it do you get on social media?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in your reputation? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from your reputation? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Your Core Values are your advancement; your advancement is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are your advancement: they're the key to your success, both socially and professionally. Your Core Values are what you bring to everything you do that sets it apart and adds unique value to it. It may not be obvious, but it makes all the difference. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values at all times and in all things, the more you will stand out from the crowd. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, success comes easily to you. You are recognized, honored, and promoted for your work. While you enjoy the approbation, it's never your main objective. For you, success is about the satisfaction you experience from the work itself. But when you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, you struggle to advance in your professional and social life. Time and again, you are passed over for promotion. The next rung on the ladder is always just out of your reach. On a personal level, when you fail to notice your Core Values, you care far too much about your social and professional status. You focus on getting awards and recognition rather than on the quality of the work you do. The quality of your work suffers, and you never feel like you get the recognition that you deserve. You care about recognition and advancement because you believe that when you are successful enough, then you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. You expect to recognize your Core Values in your advancement, and you are frequently disappointed. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your experience of your advancement. That's the Core Value that is the most important to you right now. You need to discover what it really feels like so you can begin to recognize it in your life. You pursue advancement in your personal, professional, and social life because you don't recognize the presence of your Core Values where you are, and you believe that once you reach the next higher rung on the ladder, your Core Values will be waiting for you there.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your advancement. Look back on your life and identify an example of a time when you were recognized, promoted, awarded, or honored. Review your story of what it was that you did to deserve that recognition, and what it took for you to succeed. Now consider that story from the perspective of your Core Values, and identify where and how your Core Values showed up for you. The actual source of your success and the reason you were recognized and honored was how you embodied and expressed your Core Values. Figure out what you did differently to recognize the presence of your Core Values in the situations where you were promoted and awarded, because that's the secret of your success. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more success you will enjoy.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and your advancement resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and your advancement resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How have you been recognized, honored, or promoted because of your Core Values?

What accomplishments in your life are you the most proud of? What role did your Core Values play in those achievements?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

How do your Core Values contribute to your professional success? Where do you embody them in your professional life?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in your advancement? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from your advancement? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Venus, the Ruler of your Tenth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Tenth House shows where you seek advancement, recognition, and professional success. You make use of the resources available in this house to advance your career and fulfill your potential. Your fame and reputation are based on your activities in this house. Your actual career may or may not be described by or directly related to this house, but skillful use of the resources of this house will get you recognized. The house that Venus occupies also tells you where and from whom you expect to receive validation.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Venus that explores the house that Venus, the Ruler of your Tenth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Venus, the Ruler of your Tenth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Venus as the ruler of your Tenth House, and notice how the house Venus occupies influences your understanding.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the First House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your First House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to experience love and appreciation, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to advance in your social or professional life, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Second House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Second House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to experience love and appreciation. You will spend money and use your talents to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will spend money and use your talents to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation. And you will spend money and use your talents to advance in your social or professional life. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Third House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Third House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to advance in your social or professional life, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Fourth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you experience love and appreciation, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you recognize the presence of your Core Values, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you advance in your social or professional life, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Fifth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to experience love and appreciation, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to advance in your social or professional life, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Sixth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to advance in your social or professional life, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Seventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to experience love and appreciation for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to recognize the presence of your Core Values for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to advance in your social or professional life for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Eighth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to experience love and appreciation. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to advance in your social or professional life. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Ninth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to experience love and appreciation because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to recognize the presence of your Core Values because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to advance in your social or professional life because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Tenth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to experience love and appreciation, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to recognize the presence of your Core Values, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to advance in your social or professional life, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Eleventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to experience love and appreciation so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to recognize the presence of your Core Values so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to advance in your social or professional life so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Twelfth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your validation needs, your Core Values, your reputation, and your advancement. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to experience love and appreciation, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to advance in your social or professional life, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.