

Venus Rules the Twelfth House

The Twelfth House is sorrow, adversity, self-sabotage, unconscious behavior, and hidden enemies. In almost every sense, the Twelfth House is your shadow. You can't see your own Twelfth House, but because it's above the horizon, it's visible to everyone else. Maintaining right relationship with the planet that rules the Twelfth House limits the challenges associated with this house.

The Twelfth House is the vehicle of your adversity.

The planet that rules your Twelfth House is the vehicle of your adversity. It means well, but whenever there's trouble in your life, it can usually be traced back to something you did that involved the needs, lessons, or expression of that planet. When you are out of alignment with this planet, it's how you sabotage yourself and create optional suffering in your life. Generally, the problems that result from this planet are unexpected and unintentional. You don't realize how much of a mess you make when you pursue the needs of this planet or try to understand how its Universal Puzzle Piece fits in your life. You can't help making the mess, but when you're in right relationship with the planet, you make the effort to clean up after yourself. This makes the unintended consequences less frequent and limits the impact when they do occur. But if you're out of alignment with this planet, you neglect the mess, and make every part of your life more difficult than it has to be.

The real challenge with the Twelfth House is that the planet that rules your Twelfth House is the vehicle of all of the adversity you experience in your life, and this is often difficult to accept. Many of the obstacles and challenges you experience seem to come from outside of you and appear to be beyond your personal control or influence. You experience sorrow and defeat and difficulties and accept that they're just a part of life. But the truth is that you create everything in your "little r" reality through the Law of Attraction. Everything you experience is a match to the vibration of your consciousness, and that includes both the problems that you realize you created and the problems you can't believe that you could have created. When you work to maintain right relationship with the planet that rules your Twelfth House, you protect yourself from both types of problems. You don't notice the suffering you don't experience, and that's rather the point.

The Twelfth House is your blind spot.

The Twelfth House, and the planet that rules your Twelfth House, is your blind spot. It lurks in your unconscious, just outside your field of vision, so you don't notice it until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving the planet that rules your Twelfth House create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. They're not actively looking to harm you, but as their resentment builds, they unconsciously begin to look for any opportunity where they can trip you up or let you down when you most need them. If you don't address that resentment and clean up your mess, it will come back to bite you. You'll never see it coming, either. You'll be completely blindsided, and since their behavior was unconscious, the friendship will probably survive—and your hidden enemy will still be at large.

It requires extra effort to maintain right relationship with the planet that rules your Twelfth House. Blind spots are so dangerous not because you can't see them clearly, but because you forget they're there at all, so you don't check them regularly. When you express or try to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House, you're going to cross boundaries and step on toes. That planet is just messy for you. That's why it's so important to check your blind spot. Identify when you've made a mistake, accept responsibility for it, and apologize. A simple "I'm sorry" can clean up a whole lot of resentment, and go a long way towards keeping your friends your friends.

Venus Rules the Twelfth House

Your validation needs are the vehicle of your adversity; the vehicle of your adversity is your validation needs.

Validation is the vehicle of your adversity. Time and again, when you try to meet your validation needs, it has unexpected, unintended, and unwelcome consequences. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, you manage to avoid most of the optional suffering in your life. You periodically check to see how other people perceive your behavior, especially your behaviors involving love and appreciation, and you clean up whatever messes you have made before they become bigger problems. When you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, your behaviors are disruptive and create unnecessary problems and challenges. You approach love and appreciation from First Kingdom/Victim Consciousness and use force when you try to meet your validation needs. This creates a counter-force that shows up as obstacles and adversity. You don't always see the connection between the cause and effect because there's often a delay and the adversity may not be directly related to your choices, but the adversity you experience is the Law of Attraction in action. You want to avoid suffering, sorrow, and adversity because you believe that without these problems, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. When you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic of your relationships transforms. The challenge is that your desire for love and appreciation is the vehicle of your adversity. Every time you look to other people for approval and expect someone else to make a deposit in your Validation Need Account, it creates problems for you. You must know the truth that you are loved and worthy of love without needing other people to confirm it.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with the vehicle of your adversity. Think of a few examples of situations where you have sabotaged yourself, created obstacles, or just unintentionally crossed a line or put your foot in your mouth. Focus on the smaller stories, because it will be easier for you to consider those objectively. Review the story of what happened, and your story of why you think it happened. Then go back and review it again, but this time, notice that the real source of the problem is how you handled your need for love and appreciation. If you look carefully, you will discover that your pursuit of love and appreciation is the common thread that connects almost every experience of sorrow and adversity in your life. By paying attention to your own validation needs, and becoming more skilled with expressing love and appreciation, you can limit how much you sabotage yourself. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more you avoid optional suffering and adversity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Choose an example of a time when your behavior or choices created problems for you. How did your pursuit of love and appreciation contribute to the difficulties?

What are some other examples where your pursuit of love and appreciation created challenges for you?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Do you approach love and appreciation from lack consciousness? Do you see it as a limited resource that you have to compete for? Is that true? Why or why not?

What do you love and appreciate the most about the vehicle of your adversity? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about the vehicle of your adversity?

How do you express love and appreciation through the vehicle of your adversity?

How do you love and appreciate other people for the vehicle of their adversity?

Your validation needs are your blind spot; your blind spot is your validation needs.

Validation is your blind spot. It lurks in your unconscious, just outside of your field of vision, so you don't notice it until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving your validation needs create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. When you maintain the minimum required balance in your Validation Need Account, you check your blind spot regularly. You always proceed with caution when you meet your validation needs, because it's better to be safe than sorry. You still make mistakes, but because you own your mistakes and apologize for them, you limit the amount of resentment others feel towards you. When you fail to meet your own validation needs and expect other people to meet them for you, you ignore your blind spot and move full speed ahead. This works until it doesn't, and you're blindsided by a problem. A little more attention or a timely apology could have nipped it in the bud. On a personal level, when you don't feel loved or appreciated, you are surrounded by hidden enemies. When you least expect it, they will trip you up, often using validation as a weapon against you. You would like to think that you are fully conscious of everything in your world because you believe that when you don't have a blind spot, you won't experience rejection or abandonment because you're unworthy of love.

You long to experience Unity and the truth that you are neither separate nor isolated from the Universe. You look for this through connections to other individuals where you can experience love and appreciation. Even though other people have access to your Validation Need Account and can make deposits and withdrawals, you are responsible for maintaining the minimum balance on your own. The more you look outside of yourself for validation, the harder it will be to manage your own validation needs. When you learn to love and appreciate yourself and develop healthy self-esteem, the dynamic in all of your relationships transforms. The challenge is that your validation needs are your blind spot. You are not fully conscious of your need for love and appreciation. But what's worse is that you're not fully conscious of all of the ways that you ask for other people to love and appreciate you. These are the behaviors that create resentments and activate your hidden enemies.

You can learn to monitor your Validation Need Account and maintain the minimum required balance on your own by engaging with your blind spot. Because you don't normally see your blind spot, you have to make an extra effort to check it. You need to develop a habit of looking for love and appreciation in your life, much like you have a habit of looking both ways before you cross the street—and for precisely the same reason. It's not that you don't notice love and appreciation in your life. Rather it's that you don't see all of it. You miss the edges and the fringes, and that's where your pursuit of love and appreciation creates problems for you, creating resentment in others and turning friends into hidden enemies. But with practice and attention, you can avoid being blindsided. You need to develop your gratitude muscles, and develop the habit of expressing love and appreciation for everyone and everything in your life. When you make deposits in other people's Validation Need Accounts, they're less likely to resent you for asking them to appreciate you in return. The more you meet your own validation needs and love and appreciate yourself, the more conscious you are of your blind spot.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your validation needs and your blind spot resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your validation needs and your blind spot resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What is an example of a time when you were blindsided by a problem with love and appreciation? What signs did you miss?

Could you have avoided this experience if you had been paying attention to your blind spot with love and appreciation? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where has your pursuit of love and appreciation caused other people to resent you?

How have other people used validation against you?

What do you love and appreciate the most about your blind spot? What do you want other people to notice and appreciate about your blind spot?

How do you express love and appreciation through your blind spot?

How do you love and appreciate other people for their blind spots?

Your Core Values are the vehicle of your adversity; the vehicle of your adversity is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are the vehicle of your adversity. Time and again, when you try to discover the presence of your Core Values, it has unexpected, unintended, and unwelcome consequences. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, you manage to avoid most of the optional suffering in your life. You periodically check to see how other people perceive your behavior, especially your behaviors involving your Core Values, and you clean up whatever messes you have made before they become bigger problems. When you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, your behaviors are disruptive and create unnecessary problems and challenges. You approach your Core Values from First Kingdom/Victim Consciousness and use force when you try to discover the presence of your Core Values in your life. This creates a counter-force that shows up as obstacles and adversity. You don't always see the connection between the cause and effect because there's often a delay and the adversity may not be directly related to your choices, but the adversity you experience is the Law of Attraction in action. You want to avoid suffering, sorrow, and adversity because you believe that without these problems, you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. The problem is that your Core Values are the vehicle of your adversity. You struggle to recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, and when you buy into the illusion that they are absent from your life, it creates sorrow and suffering.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with the vehicle of your adversity. Think of a few examples of situations where you have sabotaged yourself, created obstacles, or just unintentionally crossed a line or put your foot in your mouth. Focus on the smaller stories, because it will be easier for you to consider those objectively. Review the story of what happened, and your story of why you think it happened. Then go back and review it again, but this time, notice that the real source of the problem is how you handled your awareness of your Core Values. If you look carefully, you will discover that your relationship to your Core Values is the common thread that connects almost every experience of sorrow and adversity in your life. By paying attention to your Core Values and becoming more skilled with recognizing them in you, you can limit how much you sabotage yourself. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more you avoid optional suffering and adversity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Choose an example of a time when your behavior or choices created problems for you. How did your pursuit of your Core Values contribute to the difficulties?

What are some other examples where your pursuit of your Core Values created challenges for you?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

Do you approach your Core Values from lack consciousness? Do you see your Core Values as a limited resource that you have to compete for? Is that true? Why or why not?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in the vehicle of your adversity? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from the vehicle of your adversity? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Your Core Values are your blind spot; your blind spot is your Core Values.

Your Core Values are your blind spot. They lurk in your unconscious, just outside of your field of vision, so you don't notice them until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving your search for your Core Values create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. When you experience the presence of your Core Values and tune to the vibration of those qualities, you check your blind spot regularly. You always proceed with caution when you look for your Core Values, because it's better to be safe than sorry. You still make mistakes, but because you own your mistakes and apologize for them, you limit the amount of resentment others feel towards you. When you are not connected to your Core Values and believe the illusion that your Core Values are absent from your reality, you ignore your blind spot and move full speed ahead. This works until it doesn't, and you're blindsided by a problem. A little more attention or a timely apology could have nipped it in the bud. On a personal level, when you fail to notice your Core Values, you are surrounded by hidden enemies. When you least expect it, they will trip you up, often using your Core Values as a weapon against you. You would like to think that you are fully conscious of everything in your world because you believe that when you don't have a blind spot, you won't feel so isolated and separate from the Divine.

The experience of your Core Values is really about experiencing Unity. When you tune to the vibration of Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order, you remember the truth that you are the embodiment of those qualities. Because these qualities exist in all things at all times, they also exist in you, and you can never be separated from them. Recognizing this truth can be challenging. Not only do you have a narrow and limited set of expectations of what these qualities look like (which is what makes it so easy for you to overlook them), but you also expect to see evidence of your Core Values in the outside world. The problem is that your Core Values are your blind spot. They're not obvious or right in front of you, and because of that, you may believe that they're missing. Consider which of the Core Values is the most absent from your life. That's the Core Value that is lurking in your blind spot.

The easiest way for you to discover and experience the feeling of your Core Values is to engage with your blind spot. Because you don't normally see your blind spot, you have to make an extra effort to check it. You need to develop a habit of looking for your Core Values in your life, much like you have a habit of looking both ways before you cross the street—and for precisely the same reason. It's not that you don't notice your Core Values in your life. Rather it's that you don't see all of them. You miss the edges and the fringes, and that's where your Core Values cause problems for you, creating resentment in others and turning friends into hidden enemies. But with practice and attention, you can avoid being blindsided. The more you recognize the presence of your Core Values in your life, the more conscious you are of your blind spot.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your Core Values and your blind spot resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your Core Values and your blind spot resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What is an example of a time when you were blindsided by a problem with your Core Values? What signs did you miss?

Could you have avoided this experience if you had been paying attention to your blind spot with your Core Values? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

When considering your Core Values, choose from Divine Love, Joy, Power, Peace, Wisdom, Balance, Beauty, or Order.

Where has your pursuit of your Core Values caused other people to resent you?

How have other people used your Core Values against you?

Which of the Core Values are the easiest to notice in your blind spot? How do you recognize them? What do they look like to you?

Which of the Core Values appear to be absent from your blind spot? How do you expect them to show up and why do you think they're missing?

Venus, the Ruler of your Twelfth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Twelfth House shows where you sabotage yourself and where your unconscious behavior creates resentments and hidden enemies. Pay close attention to how you use the resources of this house, because in the hands of the Sun, the Ruler of your Twelfth House, those resources may create problems for you. The house that Venus occupies also tells you where and from whom you expect to receive validation.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Venus that explores the house that Venus, the Ruler of your Twelfth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Venus, the Ruler of your Twelfth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Venus as the ruler of your Twelfth House, and notice how the house Venus occupies influences your understanding.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the First House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your First House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to experience love and appreciation, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to sabotage yourself, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to check your blind spot, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Second House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Second House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to experience love and appreciation. You will spend money and use your talents to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will spend money and use your talents to sabotage yourself. And you will spend money and use your talents to check your blind spot. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Third House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Third House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to sabotage yourself, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to check your blind spot, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Fourth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you experience love and appreciation, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you recognize the presence of your Core Values, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you sabotage yourself, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you check your blind spot, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Fifth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to experience love and appreciation, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to sabotage yourself, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to check your blind spot, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Sixth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to experience love and appreciation, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to sabotage yourself, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to check your blind spot, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Seventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to experience love and appreciation for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to recognize the presence of your Core Values for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to sabotage yourself for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to check your blind spot for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Eighth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to experience love and appreciation. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to recognize the presence of your Core Values. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to sabotage yourself. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to check your blind spot. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Ninth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to experience love and appreciation because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to recognize the presence of your Core Values because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to sabotage yourself because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to check your blind spot because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Tenth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to experience love and appreciation, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to recognize the presence of your Core Values, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to sabotage yourself, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to check your blind spot, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Eleventh House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to experience love and appreciation so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to recognize the presence of your Core Values so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to sabotage yourself so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to check your blind spot so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Twelfth House

With Venus, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your validation needs, your Core Values, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to experience love and appreciation, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to recognize the presence of your Core Values, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to sabotage yourself, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to check your blind spot, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.