

Mercury Rules the Fifth House

The Fifth House is the house of fun and pleasure. It contains all forms of entertainment, amusement, and creativity, including sex and children. It's the house of gambling, luck, and risk (which, in a sense, also covers sex and children).

The Fifth House is your creativity.

Creativity is the fundamental urge of all life. Biologically, you create through procreation. Your children carry your DNA, and through your children, a piece of your unique identity lives on in the world and has a life outside of you. But biology is only one way that you create, and it's one of the least important. Everything about your life is an expression of your creativity, whether you are conscious of it or not. When you think of creative expression, you probably think of different types of entertainment and art, such as painting, drawing, writing, performing, acting, singing, or dancing. Many people express their creativity in the kitchen, or through their hobbies. But it's important to expand your definition of creativity even further.

An artist may use oil paints as her medium for creative expression. A musician uses an instrument to create. A singer uses her voice to create. A dancer uses his body to create. But underneath these external creative expressions, the planet that rules your Fifth House is the actual medium of your creative expression. Meeting the needs of that planet requires that you tap into your creativity. You need to question everything about that planet, and view it from different contexts and environments. You are driven to explore a new relationship to the needs of that planet, and to share your discoveries with the world.

Remember that what you define as "art" is not the only way that you can express your creativity. You access your creativity every time you encounter the unknown or follow your curiosity. Creativity is how you solve problems and accomplish your goals. And if you're ready to consider the big picture, remember that your consciousness—the vibrational frequency of your thoughts—creates your entire reality. Your very life is the expression of your creativity. And the more you become conscious of your creative energy and master the medium of your creativity, the more you can create a reality that you enjoy.

The Fifth House is your recreation and risk.

The Fifth House is your entertainment and amusement. The ruler of the Fifth House is your idea of fun. Fun is a subjective concept, and what amuses and entertains you may not be someone else's idea of a good time. As Mary Poppins sang, "In every job that must be done, there is an element of fun. You find the fun and snap, the job's a game." Deep down, you know that everything related to your Fifth House, and everything related to the needs and expression of the planet that rules the Fifth House is just a game. You can recognize the game and still take it seriously. Recognizing the game just allows you to enjoy the journey, the competition, and the challenges of pursuing the needs of the planet that rules the Fifth House. But knowing that it's just a game means you are more willing to take risks while playing it.

The Fifth House also represents your tolerance for risk. Taking risks, flirting with danger, and gambling with what you have for the chance to acquire much more is all a part of the fun of the game. You are willing to take risks with the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House, and you are willing to take risks to further the agenda of that planet. And you are apt to have a much higher tolerance for risk with the affairs of that planet than you do in the rest of your life. Playing it safe is always an option, but playing it safe isn't much fun.

Mercury Rules the Fifth House

Your story is your creativity; your creativity is your story.

Not only is your story your creativity, your story is the medium and the instrument of your creative expression. Artists express their creativity with paints; singers express their creativity with music; you express your creativity with your story. When you actively search for the deeper meaning of your story and pursue the truth within your reality, creativity and inspiration flow through your life. When you have an idea, it easily manifests and takes physical form in your reality. You think outside the proverbial box, and always find ways to share your unique perspective with the world. But when you accept the appearance of the reality of your "little s" story and fail to look for a deeper meaning, you feel limited and barren. You lack inspiration. The world becomes drab and monotonous. You've seen it all before, and you don't believe you can change it. On a personal level, when you focus on your "little s" story, you find it hard to care about anything in your life. You go through the motions, but you settle for the bare minimum. You want to express your creativity because you believe that when you tap into the energy of creation (which is the energy of life), you won't be bored with the story of your life.

You long to answer the call to your greatness, escape the confines of your "little s" story and become the hero of the "Big S" Story of your life. Your "Big S" Story is engaging, exciting, compelling, and endlessly entertaining, while your "little s" story is tedious and uninspiring. The difference between the two is that your "little s" story is just real, but your "Big S" story is true. Nothing in your “little s” story is about what it appears to be about. Everything in your reality is a metaphor that contains hidden depths of meaning. When you question your story, you can discover the truth that will give your life meaning and purpose. You must begin by questioning the story of your creativity, because this is the area of your life where you take things at face value and focus on the objective reality rather than the subjective truth. Your story about creativity may limit your awareness of it and your ability to express it. If you only view creativity in terms of artistic outlets, you miss the bigger truth that you create everything in your “little r” reality.

You can question the reality of your “little s” story and elevate the truth quotient by engaging with your creativity. Begin by identifying your current creative outlets. Remember, creativity isn't limited to artistic expression. You tap into your creativity whenever you are faced with a challenge or obstacle to overcome, and you express your creativity when you create anything. Make a conscious connection between your story and your current creative outlets. Notice how the more you engage with your story and pursue the deeper meaning of your “Big S” Story, the more you experience your creativity. Now, consider how the search for meaning in the story of your life shows up in other parts of your life, and explore new ways that you can be creative with how you express and embody the truth of your “Big S” Story. The more you are willing to drop every part of your story that isn't absolutely true or isn't your business, the more you will be able to express your creativity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your story and your creativity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your story and your creativity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some examples of how you express your creative energy, taking an idea and bringing it into form? How do you express your story through your creativity?

How do you use your creativity to create the experience of the “Big S” Story of your life?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How do you use your creativity to make your story more interesting?

How do you use your story to express your creativity?

Where do you feel a lack of creativity with your story?

What is your story about your creativity? What does it mean to you? What role does it play in your life? How is it a recurring theme or challenge for you?

How does your story about creativity limit you and keep you small?

How much of your story about creativity is true? What happens to that story when you drop every part of the story that is not part of My Business because it's not your responsibility or you can't actually do anything to change or control it?

Your story is your recreation and risk; your recreation and risk are your story.

Your story is your idea of fun. You enjoy the challenge of questioning the reality of your “little s” story and pursuing the truth of your “Big S” Story, and your story is where you glimpse the truth that everything about this human experience is a game. This is why you are willing to take bigger risks with your story than you are in other parts of your life. When you actively search for the deeper meaning of your story and pursue the truth within your reality, you are endlessly amused and entertained by your life. You don't take anything too seriously and you can see the humor in almost any situation. But when you accept the appearance of the reality of your “little s” story and fail to look for a deeper meaning, you don't see the joke. Life is serious and the stakes are far too high to take chances. You must win at all costs, and you take no pleasure in playing the game. On a personal level, when you focus on your “little s” story, you always play it safe. You pass up opportunities because you're not willing to risk losing what you have to gain something better. You want to take risks because risks are what make life fun, and you believe that when you find the fun in your life, you won't be bored with the story of your life.

You long to answer the call to your greatness, escape the confines of your “little s” story and become the hero of the “Big S” Story of your life. Your “Big S” Story is engaging, exciting, compelling, and endlessly entertaining, while your “little s” story is tedious and uninspiring. The difference between the two is that your “little s” story is just real, but your “Big S” story is true. Nothing in your “little s” story is about what it appears to be about. Everything in your reality is a metaphor that contains hidden depths of meaning. When you question your story, you can discover the truth that will give your life meaning and purpose. You must begin by questioning the story of your recreation and risk, because this is the area of your life where you take things at face value and focus on the objective reality rather than the subjective truth. You tend to make snap judgments about the potential for fun, and make your risk/reward analysis based on external appearances. Because of this, you pass up numerous opportunities for adventure and then you wonder why your life is so boring and mundane.

You can question the reality of your “little s” story and elevate the truth quotient by engaging with your recreation and risk. Begin by considering how you have fun, and especially how you have fun playing games. Notice how important your story is to you when you play games, and how if you don't have the opportunity to experience the truth of your “Big S” Story, the game isn't fun for you. Now consider how you look for the truth of your “Big S” Story in the rest of your life. Notice how, for you, your entire “little r” reality is a game. You may play to win, and you definitely use strategy and planning to calculate how much you are willing to risk losing for the chance to leap forward, but the entire point of your story is amusement and entertainment. If you're not having fun, you're going about it the wrong way. But when you start having fun with it, your experience of your "little r" reality transforms. The more you are willing to drop every part of your story that isn't absolutely true or isn't your business, the more you will take chances on new opportunities and have fun in the process.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your story and your recreation and risk resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your story and your recreation and risk resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What would it look like if your "little r" reality were a game for you? How would you play that game? What would you hope to win? What would happen if you lost? Do you already play this game with your story? Why or why not?

What are you willing to risk with your story? Where do you take risks in your life with your story? Where do you take risks to move ahead in the story of your "little r" reality? Are you willing to take this kind of risk in other parts of your life? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

What are some examples of how your story is fun for you?

What is your story about recreation and risk? What does it mean to you? What role does it play in your life? How is it a recurring theme or challenge for you?

How does your story about recreation and risk limit you and keep you small?

How much of your story about recreation and risk is true? What happens to that story when you drop every part of the story that is not part of My Business because it's not your responsibility or you can't actually do anything to change or control it?

Your understanding and communication are your creativity; your creativity is your understanding and communication.

Not only is understanding and communication your creativity, communication and understanding are the medium and the instrument of your creative expression. Artists express their creativity with paints; singers express their creativity with music; you express your creativity with your understanding and communication. When you have a personal understanding of truth, creativity and inspiration flow through your life. When you have an idea, it easily manifests and takes physical form in your reality. You think outside the proverbial box, and always find ways to share your unique perspective with the world. But when you do not understand truth and look to other people to validate your perceptions of reality, you feel limited and barren. You lack inspiration. The world becomes drab and monotonous. You've seen it all before, and you don't believe you can change it. On a personal level, when you lack understanding, you find it hard to care about anything in your life. You go through the motions, but you settle for the bare minimum. You want to express your creativity because you believe that when you tap into the energy of creation (which is the energy of life), you will understand everything.

You long for a personal understanding of truth. When you communicate, you look outside of yourself to validate your subjective experience of reality to verify its level of truth. The problem with communication is that so much gets lost in translation. You have to create a context for the words for them to have any meaning. You rely on the context of your creativity to understand the world. When you communicate, you translate your perceptions into the language of your creativity. When you receive new information from any source, you filter that information through the lens of your creativity so that you can understand how it fits in your subjective reality. But you can't assume that other people use the same filters or that other people have the same understanding or appreciation of your creativity. The fact that you express your creativity with your communication can complicate things even more. Every message you communicate includes hidden levels of meaning because you need to put your personal stamp on it and include your unique perspective.

You can deepen your understanding and improve the quality of your communication by engaging with your creativity. Begin by identifying your current creative outlets. Remember, creativity isn't limited to artistic expression. You tap into your creativity whenever you are faced with a challenge or obstacle to overcome, and you express your creativity when you create anything. Make a conscious connection between how you understand and communicate truth and your current creative outlets. Notice how the more you embody your understanding of truth, the more you experience your creativity. Now, consider how your need to understand and communicate truth shows up in other parts of your life, and explore new ways that you can be creative with how you understand and communicate. Take the time to look for hidden layers of meaning or coded messages when you receive communication from other people. Consider how the context can help you understand the content of the communication. The more conscious you are of the filters that govern how you understand and communicate, the more you will be able to express your creativity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your understanding and communication and your creativity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your understanding and communication and your creativity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some examples of how you express your creative energy, taking an idea and bringing it into form? How do you express understanding through your creativity? How do you communicate through your creativity?

How do you use your creativity to create the experience of understanding in your life?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How do you use your creativity to understand and communicate?

How do you use understanding and communication to express your creativity?

Where do you feel a lack of creativity with your understanding and communication?

What are some of the ways that you communicate with your creativity? How well do other people usually understand your message?

How do you use creativity to understand other people? What do you learn about other people by observing how they engage with their creativity?

Your understanding and communication are your recreation and risk; your recreation and risk are your understanding and communication.

Understanding and communication is your idea of fun. You enjoy the challenge of communicating, and understanding is where you glimpse the truth that everything about this human experience is a game. This is why you are willing to take bigger risks in pursuit of understanding and communication than you are in other parts of your life. When you have a personal understanding of truth, you are endlessly amused and entertained by your life. You don't take anything too seriously and you can see the humor in almost any situation. But when you do not understand truth and look to other people to validate your perceptions of reality, you don't see the joke. Life is serious and the stakes are far too high to take chances. You must win at all costs, and you take no pleasure in playing the game. On a personal level, when you lack understanding, you always play it safe. You pass up opportunities because you're not willing to risk losing what you have to gain something better. You want to take risks because risks are what make life fun, and you believe that when you find the fun in your life, you will understand everything.

You long for a personal understanding of truth. When you communicate, you look outside of yourself to validate your subjective experience of reality to verify its level of truth. The problem with communication is that so much gets lost in translation. You have to create a context for the words for them to have any meaning. You rely on the context of your recreation and risk to understand the world. When you communicate, you translate your perceptions into the language of your recreation and risk. When you receive new information from any source, you filter that information through the lens of your recreation and risk so that you can understand how it fits in your subjective reality. But you can't assume that other people use the same filters. You only understand things when you can find the fun in them. You focus on amusement and entertainment when you communicate because you believe that will help others to understand your truth, but it often gets in the way.

You can deepen your understanding and improve the quality of your communication by engaging with your recreation and risk. Begin by considering how you have fun, and especially how you have fun playing games. Notice how important understanding and communication are to you when you play games, and how if communication isn't present or you don't experience a deeper understanding of truth, the game isn't fun for you. Now consider understanding and communication in the rest of your life. Notice how, for you, coming to an understanding of truth is a game. You may play to win, and you definitely use strategy and planning to calculate how much you are willing to risk losing for the chance to leap forward, but the entire point of understanding and communication is amusement and entertainment. If you're not having fun, you're going about it the wrong way. But when you start having fun with it, your experience of understanding transforms and the quality of your communication improves dramatically. The more conscious you are of the filters that govern how you understand and communicate, the more you will take chances on new opportunities and have fun in the process.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your understanding and communication and your recreation and risk resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your understanding and communication and your recreation and risk resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What would it look like if understanding and communication were a game for you? How would you play that game? What would you hope to win? What would happen if you lost? Do you already play this game with understanding and communication? Why or why not?

What are you willing to risk with understanding and communication? Where do you take risks in your life with your understanding and communication? Where do you take risks to move ahead with understanding truth? Are you willing to take this kind of risk in other parts of your life? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

What are some examples of how understanding and communication is fun for you?

What are some of the ways that you communicate with recreation and risk? How well do other people usually understand your message?

How do you use recreation and risk to understand other people? What do you learn about other people by observing how they engage with their idea of fun and tolerance for risk?

Mercury, the Ruler of your Fifth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Fifth House is where you expect to have fun and be creative. You use the resources of this house in your creative efforts. It also shows where you are willing to take risks. Specifically, you are willing to gamble and speculate with the resources of this house.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Mercury that explores the house that Mercury, the Ruler of your Fifth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Mercury, the Ruler of your Fifth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Mercury as the ruler of your Fifth House, and notice how the house Mercury occupies influences your understanding.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the First House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your First House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to make your story more interesting, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to understand and communicate, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to express your creativity, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to have fun and take risks, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Second House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Second House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to make your story more interesting. You will spend money and use your talents to understand and communicate. You will spend money and use your talents to express your creativity. And you will spend money and use your talents to have fun and take risks. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Third House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Third House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to make your story more interesting, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to understand and communicate, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to express your creativity, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to have fun and take risks, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Fourth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you make your story more interesting, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you understand and communicate, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you express your creativity, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you have fun and take risks, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Fifth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to make your story more interesting, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to understand and communicate, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to express your creativity, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to have fun and take risks, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Sixth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to make your story more interesting, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to understand and communicate, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to express your creativity, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to have fun and take risks, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Seventh House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to make your story more interesting for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to understand and communicate for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to express your creativity for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to have fun and take risks for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Eighth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to make your story more interesting. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to understand and communicate. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to express your creativity. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to have fun and take risks. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Ninth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to make your story more interesting because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to understand and communicate because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to express your creativity because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to have fun and take risks because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Tenth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to make your story more interesting, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to understand and communicate, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to express your creativity, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media.

And you want to be famous for your ability to have fun and take risks, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Eleventh House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to make your story more interesting so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to understand and communicate so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to express your creativity so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to have fun and take risks so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Twelfth House

With Mercury, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your story, your understanding and communication, your creativity, and your recreation and risk. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to make your story more interesting, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to understand and communicate, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to express your creativity, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to have fun and take risks, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.