

Jupiter Rules the First House

The First House is all about you, personally. It's your health, your happiness, your personality, and how you show up and interact with the world.

It is arguably the most important house in the chart because when you get right down to it, the only thing that really matters is happiness. The planet that rules the First House is the Ruler of the Chart, and this planet is the most important planet to you because it offers the most direct path to your happiness.

The First House is your avatar.

Imagine if life were a giant video game. You navigate the virtual reality through an avatar—an animated surrogate that allows you to explore the world. You interact with other players in the game through their avatars. Your avatar is how you appear to the world. It's the qualities other people see in your personality, and it's your physical appearance. Think of your avatar as your online dating profile. It's the image that you project to the world in the hope that other people will find you attractive. Your avatar may be quite different from your authentic "Big S" Self (Sun) or your "little s" self, the character you play in the game (Mars).

You appear to the world as the embodiment of the expression of the planet that rules your First House. Other people see this quality most clearly in your personality. What other people really see is a reflection of themselves, because your avatar is a mirror. They project their issues and judgments about the planet that rules your First House on you. In a sense, the world tries to "gaslight" you, because other people often accuse you of exhibiting their problems. Of course, the more you are out of alignment with the planet that rules your First House, the more these judgments will bother you because your issues have a lot in common with their issues.

When you are in Right Relationship with the planet that rules your First House, other people are attracted to you. They tend to see your best qualities, and they have a good impression of you. This is nice, but it's not something you can control. And what other people think about you is none of your business.

On a personal level, you can influence your physical appearance, including your choice of clothing, hair, grooming, hygiene, and personal style. To a lesser degree and over time, you can alter the appearance of your physical body through diet and exercise. Each of these elements affects how other people see you, but what matters the most is how you see yourself. If you don't like what you see in the mirror, other people won't like it, either.

The First House is your happiness.

The secret of happiness—or at least the secret of your happiness—lies in the First House. The planet that rules your first house is your happiness, and the first step towards becoming truly happy is to move into Right Relationship with that planet and let it guide you on your path. Happiness doesn't exist in the outer world, however. Happiness is an inside job. It's a consequence of your level of consciousness, and directly related to how well you embody the truth of your authentic Self. The planet that rules your first house will point you in the right direction.

When you look for happiness in the outside world, you base your happiness on getting what you want. If things don't turn out the way you expect, you won't be happy, and even when you do get what you want, the pleasure and satisfaction you experience don't last. The source of true happiness lives within you, and it's bulletproof. No matter what the conditions may be in your life, and no matter what emotion you may be experiencing, you are still happy. Happiness is a context that contains the full range of feelings, emotions, and experiences. The experience of happiness is better than you can imagine, but it doesn't feel the way you expect it to feel. And happiness does not mean that you enjoy every moment of your life. The highs only have value when compared with the lows.

On a personal level, you associate happiness with your hobbies and interests because you experience pleasure when you engage in these activities. But consider that while you are happy when you pursue the things that interest you, the moment-to-moment experience of these pursuits is not always enjoyable. Struggle, frustration, obstacles, and any number of challenges are often associated with how you would like to spend your time and energy. But you welcome these when they're associated with your interests because the bigger context is happiness. When you learn to live the rest of your life from this context, you will experience true happiness.

Jupiter Rules the First House

Your growth is your avatar; your avatar is your growth.

You appear to the world as the embodiment of growth, and everyone you meet projects their judgments, issues, and expectations of growth on you. Other people see how well you are growing and evolving, and that plays an important part in whether or not they have a favorable impression of you. But remember that what other people see in you is a distorted reflection of their own issues. If they are not growing and exploring their potential in their own lives, they will point their fingers and call you out for not living up to your potential. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, other people have a good impression of you; they tend to like you and to notice your best qualities. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, other people will not be attracted to you; they will focus on your flaws and shortcomings and will have little respect or esteem for you. This will have a negative impact on your physical appearance. When you don't live up to your potential, you won't look your best, and may even appear sloppy and unkempt. You care about your physical appearance and want to look your best because you believe that the better you look, the more people will like you, and when people like you, you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities, so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with your avatar. You think the way to get other people to like you is to be more than you are. You measure your growth through your personal accomplishments, and you like to share your successes. But you must be careful not to exaggerate or overstate your abilities. If your avatar makes promises that you can't keep, people will not like you.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your physical appearance and outward expression. Take a look at yourself in the mirror and create a reference for how you look now. Use this as your baseline so you can track and evaluate your growth. Then play around with your appearance. Change your hair. Try different styles and colors of clothing, or just upgrade your wardrobe and limit how often you wear old T-shirts and sweatpants, even around the house. Spend a few extra minutes on your daily grooming, and notice how each change or improvement makes you feel. Don't be afraid to go to extremes when you play, so you can get a clear reference for "too much" and "not enough." When you learn to fulfil your potential with your appearance, it becomes easier for you to fulfil your potential in other areas of your life. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more other people will like you and recognize your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

---

What part of the description of your growth and your avatar resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your avatar resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What achievements do you want other people to notice when they see you? What changes do you want other people to notice in your appearance?

Where and how do other people think that your personality is too much?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

---

How do you think your growth expresses in your personality and how you appear to the world?

How do other people see growth in you? What do they expect? Do they think that you meet those expectations?

How does your growth show up in your physical appearance?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your physical appearance and your personality? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your appearance and your personality? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your appearance and your personality? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your growth is your happiness; your happiness is your growth.

For you, growth is happiness. You only feel truly happy when you are growing, evolving, and fulfilling your potential. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, no matter what the conditions or appearances are in your life, you appreciate that everything in your life is perfect exactly as it is. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, your life is filled with problems and challenges, and nothing seems to work out the way you want it to. On a personal level, when you have untapped potential, you find it hard to take pleasure in anything and you lose interest in the activities you used to enjoy. When you look for happiness in the outside world, you base your happiness on getting what you want. If things don't turn out the way you expect, you won't be happy, and even when you do get what you want, the pleasure and satisfaction you experience don't last. The source of true happiness lives within you, and it's bulletproof. No matter what the conditions may be in your life, and no matter what emotion you may be experiencing, you are still happy. However, you believe that getting what you want will make you happy. This matters to you because you believe that when you are happy, you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities, so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with the experiences and activities that you associate with happiness because they give you pleasure. As shocking as this may sound, it is possible to have too much of a good thing. If you look for happiness in the outside world, you will become obsessed with acquiring more pleasure and gratification. The quality of the experience is more important than the quantity. Your capacity for pleasure and happiness will expand once you begin to appreciate and enjoy what you already have.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your hobbies and interests. You enjoy these pursuits because when you spend time on them, you grow in multiple dimensions. Each new experience expands your understanding of reality and makes you aware of new possibilities. If you find that you're losing interest in something, the underlying reason is that you think there's nothing new to experience. When that happens, consider how you are measuring your progress. Chances are, you're only paying attention to external standards. Narrow your focus, and look for other things you can measure. This will give you a new set of goals and targets, and you will experience a surge of renewed interest and enjoyment. When you get the hang of this with your hobbies and interests, you can apply it to the rest of your life. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more you will experience true happiness.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

---

What part of the description of your growth and your happiness resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your happiness resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Think of a time when you felt especially happy. How were you fulfilling your potential? Where did you experience growth, expansion, or progress?

Have you ever felt happy when you felt limited or like you were not enough? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

---

How do you experience growth when you are engaged in your hobbies and interests?

How is the level of enjoyment you experience with your hobbies and interests tied to your experience of growth?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your happiness? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your happiness? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your happiness? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your faith is your avatar; your avatar is your faith.

You appear to the world as the embodiment of faith, and everyone you meet projects their judgments, issues, and expectations of faith on you. Other people see how well you embody your faith and to what degree it lives in you, and that plays an important part in whether or not they have a favorable impression of you. But remember that what other people see in you is a distorted reflection of their own issues. If they are not connected to their own faith, or if their faith has been betrayed, they will point their fingers and call you out for your hypocrisy and lack of faith. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, other people have a good impression of you; they tend to like you and to notice your best qualities. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, other people will not be attracted to you; they will focus on your flaws and shortcomings and will have little respect or esteem for you. This will have a negative impact on your physical appearance. When you lack faith, you don't look your best, and may even appear sloppy and unkempt. You care about your physical appearance and want to look your best because you believe that the better you look, the more people will like you, and when people like you, you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in your avatar. Specifically, you have faith that the way you appear to other people is an accurate and true reflection of your authentic Self. You have faith that others will accept you at face value and won't bother to look beneath the surface. In a sense, you expect to be able to skate through life on your looks. But if your avatar lacks truth—if it's not an accurate representation of your essence—you are setting yourself up for endless experiences of betrayal.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your physical appearance. Change your hair. Try different styles and colors of clothing, or just upgrade your wardrobe and limit how often you wear old T-shirts and sweatpants, even around the house. Spend a few extra minutes on your daily grooming, and notice how each change or improvement makes you feel. When you find a look that accurately expresses your authentic Self, it will be obvious to you.

You may not feel entirely comfortable with this new look, but that's where your faith comes in. You must be willing to have faith that your upgraded avatar is a true expression of your identity, and that you will fulfill the promises it makes to the world. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more other people will like you and recognize your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

---

What part of the description of your faith and your avatar resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your avatar resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What do other people notice about your faith? Where do they think you invest your faith? How do you appear to live your faith?

Where do you think you invest your faith? How do you show that faith to others?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

---

How do you think your faith expresses in your personality and how you appear to the world?

How does your faith show up in your physical appearance?

How do you invest your faith in your physical appearance? What is it that you take for granted about your physical appearance without questioning it?

How has your faith in your physical appearance supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in your physical appearance not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Your faith is your happiness; your happiness is your faith.

For you, faith is happiness. You only feel truly happy when you surrender and allow your faith to support you. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, no matter what the conditions or appearances are in your life, you appreciate that everything in your life is perfect exactly as it is. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, your life is filled with problems and challenges, and nothing seems to work out the way you want it to. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you find it hard to take pleasure in anything and you lose interest in the activities you used to enjoy. When you look for happiness in the outside world, you base your happiness on getting what you want. If things don't turn out the way you expect, you won't be happy, and even when you do get what you want, the pleasure and satisfaction you experience don't last. The source of true happiness lives within you, and it's bulletproof. No matter what the conditions may be in your life, and no matter what emotion you may be experiencing, you are still happy. However, you believe that getting what you want will make you happy. This matters to you because you believe that when you are happy, you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in it so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in your happiness. If you have faith that the source of your happiness is outside of you, you will experience disappointment and betrayal on a regular basis. But when you build faith that the source of your happiness is within you, your faith becomes the source of your happiness.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your hobbies and interests. When you spend time in these pursuits, your level of enjoyment isn't based on a particular outcome. You express a preference, but then you let things unfold without needing to control them. When you attach to a specific outcome, you invest your faith in the idea that you will only be happy if you get what you want, and you won't enjoy the experience. But when you connect to the source of happiness within you, you have faith that you will enjoy yourself no matter what the outcome. And the more you rely on this faith, the more you enjoy your hobbies and interests. You invest your faith in "This, or something better," which is the truth. As you test that faith and see how it supports you in your hobbies and interests, you can begin to apply it to other areas of your life. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more you will experience true happiness.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

---

What part of the description of your faith and your happiness resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your happiness resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Think of a time when you felt especially happy. How did you experience faith in that situation? Did you feel the need to control events? Or did you have faith that things would work out for the best?

Do you have to know how things will turn out to feel happy? Can you feel happy without knowing the outcome in advance? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

---

How do you experience faith when you are engaged in your hobbies and interests?

How is the level of enjoyment you experience with your hobbies and interests tied to your experience of faith?

How do you invest your faith in your happiness? What is it that you take for granted about your happiness without questioning it?

How has your faith in your happiness supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in your happiness not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Jupiter, the Ruler of your First House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the First House tells you where you expect to find your happiness. The affairs of this house do not encompass your entire journey, and they alone do not represent happiness, but they are where your journey begins, and they will remain a touchstone for your happiness and personal fulfillment in this lifetime. Your avatar goes forth into the world through this house, and your personality and appearance express using the resources of this house.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Jupiter that explores the house that Jupiter, the Ruler of your First House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Jupiter, the Ruler of your First House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Jupiter as the ruler of your First House, and notice how the house Jupiter occupies influences your understanding.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the First House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your First House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to grow using your untapped potential, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to build and test your faith, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Second House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Second House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to grow using your untapped potential. You will spend money and use your talents to build and test your faith. You will spend money and use your talents to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you. And you will spend money and use your talents to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Third House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Third House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to build and test your faith, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Fourth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Fourth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you grow using your untapped potential, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you build and test your faith, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, because they're personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Fifth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Fifth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to grow using your untapped potential, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to build and test your faith, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Sixth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Sixth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to build and test your faith, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Seventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Seventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to grow using your untapped potential for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to build and test your faith for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to adjust your personality and appearance for you so that they will like you, and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Eighth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Eighth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to grow using your untapped potential. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to build and test your faith. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the in the Ninth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Ninth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to grow using your untapped potential because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to build and test your faith because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the Tenth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Tenth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to grow using your untapped potential, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to build and test your faith, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the Eleventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to grow using your untapped potential so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to build and test your faith so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in the Twelfth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the First House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your growth, your faith, your avatar, and your happiness. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to grow using your untapped potential, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to build and test your faith, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to adjust your personality and appearance so that other people will like you, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to engage in your hobbies, interests, and your idea of happiness, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.