

Jupiter Rules the Fifth House

The Fifth House is the house of fun and pleasure. It contains all forms of entertainment, amusement, and creativity, including sex and children. It's the house of gambling, luck, and risk (which, in a sense, also covers sex and children).

The Fifth House is your creativity.

Creativity is the fundamental urge of all life. Biologically, you create through procreation. Your children carry your DNA, and through your children, a piece of your unique identity lives on in the world and has a life outside of you. But biology is only one way that you create, and it's one of the least important. Everything about your life is an expression of your creativity, whether you are conscious of it or not. When you think of creative expression, you probably think of different types of entertainment and art, such as painting, drawing, writing, performing, acting, singing, or dancing. Many people express their creativity in the kitchen, or through their hobbies. But it's important to expand your definition of creativity even further.

An artist may use oil paints as her medium for creative expression. A musician uses an instrument to create. A singer uses her voice to create. A dancer uses his body to create. But underneath these external creative expressions, the planet that rules your Fifth House is the actual medium of your creative expression. Meeting the needs of that planet requires that you tap into your creativity. You need to question everything about that planet, and view it from different contexts and environments. You are driven to explore a new relationship to the needs of that planet, and to share your discoveries with the world.

Remember that what you define as "art" is not the only way that you can express your creativity. You access your creativity every time you encounter the unknown or follow your curiosity. Creativity is how you solve problems and accomplish your goals. And if you're ready to consider the big picture, remember that your consciousness—the vibrational frequency of your thoughts—creates your entire reality. Your very life is the expression of your creativity. And the more you become conscious of your creative energy and master the medium of your creativity, the more you can create a reality that you enjoy.

The Fifth House is your recreation and risk.

The Fifth House is your entertainment and amusement. The ruler of the Fifth House is your idea of fun. Fun is a subjective concept, and what amuses and entertains you may not be someone else's idea of a good time. As Mary Poppins sang, "In every job that must be done, there is an element of fun. You find the fun and snap, the job's a game." Deep down, you know that everything related to your Fifth House, and everything related to the needs and expression of the planet that rules the Fifth House is just a game. You can recognize the game and still take it seriously. Recognizing the game just allows you to enjoy the journey, the competition, and the challenges of pursuing the needs of the planet that rules the Fifth House. But knowing that it's just a game means you are more willing to take risks while playing it.

The Fifth House also represents your tolerance for risk. Taking risks, flirting with danger, and gambling with what you have for the chance to acquire much more is all a part of the fun of the game. You are willing to take risks with the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House, and you are willing to take risks to further the agenda of that planet. And you are apt to have a much higher tolerance for risk with the affairs of that planet than you do in the rest of your life. Playing it safe is always an option, but playing it safe isn't much fun.

Jupiter Rules the Fifth House

Your growth is your creativity; your creativity is your growth.

Not only is growth your creativity, growth is the medium and the instrument of your creative expression. Artists express their creativity with paints; singers express their creativity with music; you express your creativity with your growth. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, creativity and inspiration flow through your life. When you have an idea, it easily manifests and takes physical form in your reality. You think outside the proverbial box, and always find ways to share your unique perspective with the world. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, you feel limited and barren. You lack inspiration. The world becomes drab and monotonous. You've seen it all before, and you don't believe you can change it. On a personal level, when you don't feel like you are growing, you find it hard to care about anything in your life. You go through the motions, but you settle for the bare minimum. You want to express your creativity because you believe that when you tap into the energy of creation (which is the energy of life), you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with your creativity. When you feel limited or stuck with your creativity, it means that you need to approach your creativity in new ways. Rather than looking for creative ways to push past the boundary, you need to use your creativity to discover where you have unused resources.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your creativity. Begin by identifying your current creative outlets. Remember, creativity isn't limited to artistic expression. You tap into your creativity whenever you are faced with a challenge or obstacle to overcome, and you express your creativity when you create anything. Make a conscious connection between your growth and your current creative outlets. Notice how the more you embody growth, the more you experience your creativity. Then recognize the truth that you are always growing, and that all you need to do to recognize that you are growing is to track and measure it. By measuring your growth in multiple dimensions, you also experience growth in your creativity. Now, consider how growth shows up in other parts of your life, and explore new ways that you can be creative with how you express, embody, and track your growth. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more you will be able to express your creativity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and your creativity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your creativity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some examples of how you express your creative energy, taking an idea and bringing it into form? How do you express growth through your creativity?

How do you use your creativity to create the experience of growth in your life?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where do you feel a lack of creativity with your growth?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your creativity? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your creativity? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your creativity? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your growth is your recreation and risk; your recreation and risk are your growth.

Growth is your idea of fun. You enjoy the challenge of fulfilling your potential, and growth is where you glimpse the truth that everything about this human experience is a game. This is why you are willing to take bigger risks with growth and in pursuit of expansion than you are in other parts of your life. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, you are endlessly amused and entertained by your life. You don't take anything too seriously and you can see the humor in almost any situation. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, you don't see the joke. Life is serious and the stakes are far too high to take chances. You must win at all costs, and you take no pleasure in playing the game. On a personal level, when you don't feel like you are growing, you always play it safe. You pass up opportunities because you're not willing to risk losing what you have to gain something better. You want to take risks because risks are what make life fun, and you believe that when you find the fun in your life, you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with your recreation and risk. Your idea of fun may be limited. Because you have so few options for fun, you have to push the limits and seek out bigger, more intense experiences to enjoy yourself. You take risks and invest more and more energy in pursuit of entertainment and amusement. You would be much happier looking for unexplored or overlooked opportunities for fun and amusement.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your recreation and risk. Begin by considering how you have fun, and especially how you have fun playing games. Notice how important growth is to you when you play games, and how if the opportunity for new experiences or new perspectives isn't present, the game isn't fun for you. Now consider how you grow and expand in the rest of your life. Notice how, for you, growth itself is a game. You may play to win, and you definitely use strategy and planning to calculate how much you are willing to risk losing for the chance to leap forward, but the entire point of growth is amusement and entertainment. If you're not having fun, you're going about it the wrong way. But when you start having fun with it, your experience of growth transforms. You discover the truth that you are always growing in every dimension, and all you need to do to appreciate that is to measure it. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more you will take chances on new opportunities and have fun in the process.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and your recreation and risk resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your recreation and risk resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What would it look like if growth were a game for you? How would you play that game? What would you hope to win? What would happen if you lost? Do you already play this game with growth and expansion? Why or why not?

What are you willing to risk with your growth? Where do you take risks in your life with your growth? Where do you take risks to grow and expand? Are you willing to take this kind of risk in other parts of your life? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

What are some examples of how growth is fun for you?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your recreation and risk? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your recreation and risk? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your recreation and risk? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your faith is your creativity; your creativity is your faith.

Not only is your faith your creativity, faith is the medium and the instrument of your creative expression. Artists express their creativity with paints; singers express their creativity with music; you express your creativity with your faith. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, creativity and inspiration flow through your life. When you have an idea, it easily manifests and takes physical form in your reality. You think outside the proverbial box, and always find ways to share your unique perspective with the world. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, you feel limited and barren. You lack inspiration. The world becomes drab and monotonous. You've seen it all before, and you don't believe you can change it. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you find it hard to care about anything in your life. You go through the motions, but you settle for the bare minimum. You want to express your creativity because you believe that when you tap into the energy of creation (which is the energy of life), you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in your creativity. You have faith in your ability to create, and this means that any disruptions to your creative flow can feel like a betrayal of that faith. You invest your faith in your creations, and this means that when your creations don't live up to your expectations, your faith is betrayed. You must avoid investing your faith in the external appearance of your creativity, and instead invest it in the truth that you are so creative that you create your entire "little r" reality.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your creativity. Begin by identifying your current creative outlets. Remember, creativity isn't limited to artistic expression. You tap into your creativity whenever you are faced with a challenge or obstacle to overcome, and you express your creativity when you create anything. Make a conscious connection between your faith and your current creative outlets. Notice how the more you embody your faith, the more you experience your creativity. Your faith supports you and you are willing to follow your instincts and your inspiration, even when you can't be certain of the outcome. Your faith supports you so that you can surrender to the process of creation. Now, consider how your faith shows up in other parts of your life, and explore new ways that you can be creative with how you express and embody your faith. Use your creativity to question your faith and to alter it so that it aligns with the truth. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more you will be able to express your creativity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and your creativity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your creativity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What are some examples of how you express your creative energy, taking an idea and bringing it into form? How do you express your faith through your creativity?

How do you use your creativity to create the experience of faith in your life?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How do you use faith to express your creativity?

Where do you feel a lack of creativity with your faith?

How do you invest your faith in creativity? What is it that you take for granted about creativity without questioning it?

How has your faith in creativity supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in creativity not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Your faith is your recreation and risk; your recreation and risk are your faith.

Faith is your idea of fun. You enjoy the challenge of building and testing your faith, and faith is where you glimpse the truth that everything about this human experience is a game. This is why you are willing to take bigger risks with faith than you are in other parts of your life. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, you are endlessly amused and entertained by your life. You don't take anything too seriously and you can see the humor in almost any situation. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, you don't see the joke. Life is serious and the stakes are far too high to take chances. You must win at all costs, and you take no pleasure in playing the game. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you always play it safe. You pass up opportunities because you're not willing to risk losing what you have to gain something better. You want to take risks because risks are what make life fun, and you believe that when you find the fun in your life, you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in recreation and risk. Faith itself is a game to you, and because of that, you are willing to take risks and test your faith. Not only are you willing to take a leap of faith, you rarely bother to look first. You accept that betrayal is all a part of the game, but you must also learn that the best strategy to play the game is to invest your faith in the truth and limit your experience of betrayal.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your recreation and risk. Begin by considering how you have fun, and especially how you have fun playing games. Notice how important faith is to you when you play games, and how if the opportunity to test your faith isn't present, the game isn't fun for you. Now consider your faith in the rest of your life. Notice how, for you, faith itself is a game. You may play to win, and you definitely use strategy and planning to calculate how much you are willing to risk losing for the chance to leap forward, but the entire point of building faith, testing faith, and taking a leap of faith is amusement and entertainment. If you're not having fun, you're going about it the wrong way. But when you start having fun with it, your experience of faith transforms. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more you will take chances on new opportunities and have fun in the process.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and your recreation and risk resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your recreation and risk resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What would it look like if faith were a game for you? How would you play that game? What would you hope to win? What would happen if you lost? Do you already play this game with your faith? Why or why not?

What are you willing to risk with your faith? Where do you take risks in your life with your faith? Where do you take risks to test your faith? Are you willing to take this kind of risk in other parts of your life? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

What are some examples of how faith is fun for you?

How do you invest your faith in recreation and risk? What is it that you take for granted about recreation and risk without questioning it?

How has your faith in recreation and risk supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in recreation and risk not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Jupiter, the Ruler of your Fifth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Fifth House is where you expect to have fun and be creative. You use the resources of this house in your creative efforts. It also shows where you are willing to take risks. Specifically, you are willing to gamble and speculate with the resources of this house.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Jupiter that explores the house that Jupiter, the Ruler of your Fifth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Jupiter, the Ruler of your Fifth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Jupiter as the ruler of your Fifth House, and notice how the house Jupiter occupies influences your understanding.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the First House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your First House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to grow using your untapped potential, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to build and test your faith, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to express your creativity, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to have fun and take risks, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Second House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Second House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to grow using your untapped potential. You will spend money and use your talents to build and test your faith. You will spend money and use your talents to express your creativity. And you will spend money and use your talents to have fun and take risks. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Third House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Third House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to build and test your faith, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to express your creativity, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to have fun and take risks, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Fourth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you grow using your untapped potential, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you build and test your faith, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you express your creativity, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you have fun and take risks, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Fifth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to grow using your untapped potential, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to build and test your faith, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to express your creativity, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to have fun and take risks, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Sixth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to build and test your faith, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to express your creativity, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to have fun and take risks, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Seventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to grow using your untapped potential for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to build and test your faith for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to express your creativity for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to have fun and take risks for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Eighth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to grow using your untapped potential. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to build and test your faith. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to express your creativity. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to have fun and take risks. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the in the Ninth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to grow using your untapped potential because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to build and test your faith because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to express your creativity because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to have fun and take risks because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Tenth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to grow using your untapped potential, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to build and test your faith, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to express your creativity, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to have fun and take risks, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Eleventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to grow using your untapped potential so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to build and test your faith so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to express your creativity so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to have fun and take risks so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in the Twelfth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Fifth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your growth, your faith, your creativity, and your recreation and risk. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to grow using your untapped potential, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to build and test your faith, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to express your creativity, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to have fun and take risks, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.