

Jupiter Rules the Tenth House

The Tenth House relates to your success, recognition, and professional advancement. It's your fame and your reputation, and your public image. And in the modern world, that often translates to your social media profile.

The Tenth House is your reputation.

The Tenth House is your reputation: it's how you are seen by society. It's your fame and your public image. It's also your presence on social media, both personal and professional. The planet that rules your Tenth House is what you are famous for. It's responsible for your greatest accomplishments and also for the gaffes you can never seem to live down or put behind you. Whether the world thinks favorably of your or not depends on how well you meet the needs and learn the lessons of the planet that rules your Tenth House. Because of the advent of social media and the Internet, much of your life is public. If you have any presence online, whether it's Facebook, LinkedIn, or OkCupid, you have a brand that you present to the world. You have a certain degree of fame because people whom you have never met personally know about you, and they also have an opinion of you. How much you take advantage of this is up to you, but even if you keep a low profile in your life, it's important to keep control of your message. The planet that rules your Tenth House is both the message itself and also the carrier wave that broadcasts your message.

The world expects you to live up to the promise of the planet that rules your Tenth House. This is your brand, and if you don't meet those needs and handle that Universal Puzzle Piece with care, everyone will know about it. But the more skillful you are about meeting those needs, the more control you have over the volume of your message. When you are in right relationship with the planet that rules your Tenth House, you can determine how public you want to be, and therefore have more influence over your privacy. But if you choose to, you can use the platform of your reputation to promote other interests. When you meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House, the world will listen to what you have to say. When you don't meet the needs of that planet, you lose control over your message and the world (and the Internet) gets to decide on your brand, usually in the comments section.

The Tenth House is your advancement.

The Tenth House is also how you advance in the world, both socially and professionally. This is closely related to your reputation, because a good reputation is often essential for advancement, but it's not entirely the same thing. This expression of the Tenth House (and of the planet that rules your Tenth House) has to do with awards, honors, and promotion. It encompasses many of the things that you may associate with success. Your reputation relates to your relative level of fame, but advancement relates to the tangible, material rewards that come from that fame.

The cusp of the Tenth House is the most public and visible point in the chart, and the planet that rules your Tenth House is the vehicle that helps you attain the highest peaks in your life. Often, the accomplishments related to the Tenth House are professional and related to your career, but it's important not to view your life only in terms of your job or the things that you do to make money. When you look back on your life, you are the most proud of the accomplishments of your Tenth House. Often you are noticed, recognized, and honored by other people for these achievements, but not always. These achievements always involve meeting the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House and understanding how that Universal Puzzle Piece fits in your life. And even if you don't experience social or professional advancement, you definitely advanced as a person.

Jupiter Rules the Tenth House

Your growth is your reputation; your reputation is your growth.

Growth is your reputation and your public image. Your personal brand is growth, and that's the message that you project to the world through social media. Whether the public has a favorable impression of you or not depends on how well you utilize your untapped potential. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, the world sees your best qualities and has a good impression of you. You have strong brand recognition and good word of mouth, and you easily deliver on the promises you make. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, you lose control of your message. If you're lucky, you fail to make an impression on the world and no one notices you. If you're not lucky, you get noticed, but for all of the wrong reasons. On a personal level, when you don't feel like you are growing, you may try to "live your best life" on social media, but you don't fool anyone. The irony is that if you invested the time and energy in your actual life that you invest in curating the public appearance of your life, you would have something worth sharing with the world. You care about your public image and reputation because you believe that when the world thinks well of you, then you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with your reputation. You are always looking to expand your reputation and to extend the reach of your brand and your message. But size isn't the only thing that matters, and bigger is not automatically better.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your reputation. Take a close look at your presence on social media. Consider what it is that you share with the world, whether on a personal or professional platform. Include how you comment or respond to other people's posts, and whose brands you follow and admire. Now step back and review some of your recent social media activity to see what messages you are broadcasting about your growth and how you manage your resources. If someone else had shared your posts, what would you think about how they handle their resources and their potential? Does your reputation tell people that you only care about expansion or that you are dedicated to making full use of all of your resources and potential? Once you have a clear, objective reference for your brand and how the world may view it, you can begin to refine your message. It's okay to share your best self and set high expectations for how you embody growth and make use of your potential, so long as you can deliver on those promises. You can do that by paying attention to how you are using your resources and fulfilling your potential in every area of your life. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more the world will notice your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and your reputation resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your reputation resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How would you like the world to see your growth and expansion? What could you share on social media that would draw attention to your growth?

Take an objective look at what you have been sharing on social media, both in your posts and in your comments. Does the message of your growth show up the way that you would like it to? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where do you notice and admire growth in other people? How does it show up in their public image? How does that influence your own choices of what to share in public?

How well do you embody growth in your public image? What kind of feedback about it do you get on social media?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your reputation? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your reputation? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your reputation? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your growth is your advancement; your advancement is your growth.

Growth is your advancement: it's the key to your success, both socially and professionally. Growth is what you bring to everything you do that sets it apart and adds unique value to it. It may not be obvious, but it makes all the difference. The more you utilize your untapped potential, the more you will stand out from the crowd. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, success comes easily to you. You are recognized, honored, and promoted for your work. While you enjoy the approbation, it's never your main objective. For you, success is about the satisfaction you experience from the work itself. But when your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, you struggle to advance in your professional and social life. Time and again, you are passed over for promotion. The next rung on the ladder is always just out of your reach. On a personal level, when you don't feel like you are growing, you care far too much about your social and professional status. You focus on getting awards and recognition rather than on the quality of the work you do. The quality of your work suffers, and you never feel like you get the recognition that you deserve. You care about recognition and advancement because you believe that when you are successful enough, then you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important with your advancement. If you focus on promotion for its own sake you will quickly find yourself in a position that requires more than you can deliver. But when you focus on filling your current place completely and not wasting any of your potential or your resources, promotion and advancement will happen automatically, and you will continue to grow in your new position.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your advancement. Look back on your life and identify an example of a time when you were recognized, promoted, awarded, or honored. Review your story of what it was that you did to deserve that recognition, and what it took for you to succeed. Now consider that story from the perspective of growth, and identify where and how growth and expansion showed up for you. The actual source of your success and the reason you were recognized and honored was how you embodied and expressed your full potential. Figure out what you did differently with your resources in the situations where you were promoted and awarded, because that's the secret of your success. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more success you will enjoy.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and your advancement resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your advancement resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How have you been recognized, honored, or promoted because of your growth?

What accomplishments in your life are you the most proud of? What role did growth play in those achievements?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How does growth contribute to your professional success? Where do you embody it in your professional life?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your advancement? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your advancement? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your advancement? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your faith is your reputation; your reputation is your faith.

Faith is your reputation and your public image. Your personal brand is faith, and that's the message that you project to the world through social media. Whether the public has a favorable impression of you or not depends on how well you build and test your faith. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, the world sees your best qualities and has a good impression of you. You have strong brand recognition and good word of mouth, and you easily deliver on the promises you make. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, you lose control of your message. If you're lucky, you fail to make an impression on the world and no one notices you. If you're not lucky, you get noticed, but for all of the wrong reasons. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you may try to "live your best life" on social media, but you don't fool anyone. The irony is that if you invested the time and energy in your actual life that you invest in curating the public appearance of your life, you would have something worth sharing with the world. You care about your public image and reputation because you believe that when the world thinks well of you, then you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in your reputation. You may invest your faith in the public image you craft and present to the world, expecting that you will always be able to live up to that image and fulfill its promise. You may invest your faith in your reputation and expect that it will always be there to support and protect you. But if your reputation lacks a foundation of truth, it will betray you when you need it the most.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your reputation. Take a close look at your presence on social media. Consider what it is that you share with the world, whether on a personal or professional platform. Include how you comment or respond to other people's posts, and whose brands you follow and admire. Now step back and review some of your recent social media activity to see what messages you are broadcasting about your faith. If someone else had shared your posts, what would you think about how they handle their faith? Where do you appear to invest your faith and how does that faith support you in your personal life? Once you have a clear, objective reference for your brand and how the world may view it, you can begin to refine your message. It's okay to share your best self and set high expectations for how you embody your faith, so long as you can deliver on those promises. You can do that by paying attention to your faith in every area of your life. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more the world will notice your best qualities.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and your reputation resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your reputation resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How would you like the world to see your faith? What could you share on social media that would draw attention to your faith?

Take an objective look at what you have been sharing on social media, both in your posts and in your comments. Does the message of your faith show up the way that you would like it to? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where do you notice and admire faith in other people? How does it show up in their public image? How does that influence your own choices of what to share in public?

How well do you embody faith in your public image? What kind of feedback about it do you get on social media?

How do you invest your faith in your reputation? What is it that you take for granted about your reputation without questioning it?

How has your faith in your reputation supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in your reputation not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Your faith is your advancement; your advancement is your faith.

Faith is your advancement: it's the key to your success, both socially and professionally. Faith is what you bring to everything you do that sets it apart and adds unique value to it. It may not be obvious, but it makes all the difference. The more you build and test your faith, the more you will stand out from the crowd. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, success comes easily to you. You are recognized, honored, and promoted for your work. While you enjoy the approbation, it's never your main objective. For you, success is about the satisfaction you experience from the work itself. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, you struggle to advance in your professional and social life. Time and again, you are passed over for promotion. The next rung on the ladder is always just out of your reach. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you care far too much about your social and professional status. You focus on getting awards and recognition rather than on the quality of the work you do. The quality of your work suffers, and you never feel like you get the recognition that you deserve. You care about recognition and advancement because you believe that when you are successful enough, then you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in advancement. It's one thing to invest your faith in yourself and know that you have the ability to succeed. It's quite another thing to invest your faith in advancement and expect that moving up the ladder of your professional, social, or personal status will bring you happiness.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your advancement. Look back on your life and identify an example of a time when you were recognized, promoted, awarded, or honored. Review your story of what it was that you did to deserve that recognition, and what it took for you to succeed. Now consider that story from the perspective of your faith, and identify where and how your faith showed up for you. The actual source of your success and the reason you were recognized and honored was how you embodied and expressed your faith — specifically your faith in yourself and your abilities. Figure out what you did differently with your faith in the situations where you were promoted and awarded, because that's the secret of your success. Once you have identified it, you can access it whenever you choose, in any part of your life. Just remember to invest your faith in the truth of your own abilities, not in the appearance of advancement and promotion. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more success you will enjoy.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and your advancement resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your advancement resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

How have you been recognized, honored, or promoted because of your faith?

What accomplishments in your life are you the most proud of? What role did faith play in those achievements?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

How does faith contribute to your professional success? Where do you embody it in your professional life?

How do you invest your faith in advancement? What is it that you take for granted about your advancement without questioning it?

How has your faith in advancement supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in advancement not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Jupiter, the Ruler of your Tenth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Tenth House shows where you seek advancement, recognition, and professional success. You make use of the resources available in this house to advance your career and fulfill your potential. Your fame and reputation are based on your activities in this house. Your actual career may or may not be described by or directly related to this house, but skillful use of the resources of this house will get you recognized.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Jupiter that explores the house that Jupiter, the Ruler of your Tenth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Jupiter, the Ruler of your Tenth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Jupiter as the ruler of your Tenth House, and notice how the house Jupiter occupies influences your understanding.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the First House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your First House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to grow using your untapped potential, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality.

You will use your personal interests and happiness to build and test your faith, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to advance in your social or professional life, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Second House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Second House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to grow using your untapped potential. You will spend money and use your talents to build and test your faith. You will spend money and use your talents to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation. And you will spend money and use your talents to advance in your social or professional life. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Third House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Third House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to build and test your faith, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to advance in your social or professional life, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Fourth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you grow using your untapped potential, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you build and test your faith, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you advance in your social or professional life, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Fifth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to grow using your untapped potential, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to build and test your faith, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to advance in your social or professional life, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Sixth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to build and test your faith, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to advance in your social or professional life, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Seventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to grow using your untapped potential for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to build and test your faith for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to advance in your social or professional life for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Eighth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to grow using your untapped potential. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to build and test your faith. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to advance in your social or professional life. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the in the Ninth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to grow using your untapped potential because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to build and test your faith because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to advance in your social or professional life because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Tenth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to grow using your untapped potential, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to build and test your faith, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to advance in your social or professional life, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Eleventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to grow using your untapped potential so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to build and test your faith so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to advance in your social or professional life so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in the Twelfth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Tenth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your growth, your faith, your reputation, and your advancement. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to grow using your untapped potential, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to build and test your faith, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to raise your public profile and enhance your reputation, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to advance in your social or professional life, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.