

Jupiter Rules the Twelfth House

The Twelfth House is sorrow, adversity, self-sabotage, unconscious behavior, and hidden enemies. In almost every sense, the Twelfth House is your shadow. You can't see your own Twelfth House, but because it's above the horizon, it's visible to everyone else. Maintaining right relationship with the planet that rules the Twelfth House limits the challenges associated with this house.

The Twelfth House is the vehicle of your adversity.

The planet that rules your Twelfth House is the vehicle of your adversity. It means well, but whenever there's trouble in your life, it can usually be traced back to something you did that involved the needs, lessons, or expression of that planet. When you are out of alignment with this planet, it's how you sabotage yourself and create optional suffering in your life. Generally, the problems that result from this planet are unexpected and unintentional. You don't realize how much of a mess you make when you pursue the needs of this planet or try to understand how its Universal Puzzle Piece fits in your life. You can't help making the mess, but when you're in right relationship with the planet, you make the effort to clean up after yourself. This makes the unintended consequences less frequent and limits the impact when they do occur. But if you're out of alignment with this planet, you neglect the mess, and make every part of your life more difficult than it has to be.

The real challenge with the Twelfth House is that the planet that rules your Twelfth House is the vehicle of all of the adversity you experience in your life, and this is often difficult to accept. Many of the obstacles and challenges you experience seem to come from outside of you and appear to be beyond your personal control or influence. You experience sorrow and defeat and difficulties and accept that they're just a part of life. But the truth is that you create everything in your "little r" reality through the Law of Attraction. Everything you experience is a match to the vibration of your consciousness, and that includes both the problems that you realize you created and the problems you can't believe that you could have created. When you work to maintain right relationship with the planet that rules your Twelfth House, you protect yourself from both types of problems. You don't notice the suffering you don't experience, and that's rather the point.

The Twelfth House is your blind spot.

The Twelfth House, and the planet that rules your Twelfth House, is your blind spot. It lurks in your unconscious, just outside your field of vision, so you don't notice it until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving the planet that rules your Twelfth House create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. They're not actively looking to harm you, but as their resentment builds, they unconsciously begin to look for any opportunity where they can trip you up or let you down when you most need them. If you don't address that resentment and clean up your mess, it will come back to bite you. You'll never see it coming, either. You'll be completely blindsided, and since their behavior was unconscious, the friendship will probably survive—and your hidden enemy will still be at large.

It requires extra effort to maintain right relationship with the planet that rules your Twelfth House. Blind spots are so dangerous not because you can't see them clearly, but because you forget they're there at all, so you don't check them regularly. When you express or try to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House, you're going to cross boundaries and step on toes. That planet is just messy for you. That's why it's so important to check your blind spot. Identify when you've made a mistake, accept responsibility for it, and apologize. A simple "I'm sorry" can clean up a whole lot of resentment, and go a long way towards keeping your friends your friends.

Jupiter Rules the Twelfth House

Your growth is the vehicle of your adversity; the vehicle of your adversity is your growth.

Growth is the vehicle of your adversity. Time and again, when you try to access your untapped potential, it has unexpected, unintended, and unwelcome consequences. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, you manage to avoid most of the optional suffering in your life. You periodically check to see how other people perceive your behavior, especially your behaviors involving growth, and you clean up whatever messes you have made before they become bigger problems. When your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, your behaviors are disruptive and create unnecessary problems and challenges. You approach growth from First Kingdom/Victim Consciousness and use force when you try to access your untapped potential. This creates a counter-force that shows up as obstacles and adversity. You don't always see the connection between the cause and effect because there's often a delay and the adversity may not be directly related to your choices, but the adversity you experience is the Law of Attraction in action. You want to avoid suffering, sorrow, and adversity because you believe that without these problems, you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important because growth is the vehicle of your adversity. You struggle with the extremes of “not enough” and “too much,” and this motivates you to grow and acquire more. You must learn to use what you currently have; this is how you experience sufficiency.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with the vehicle of your adversity. Think of a few examples of situations where you have sabotaged yourself, created obstacles, or just unintentionally crossed a line or put your foot in your mouth. Focus on the smaller stories, because it will be easier for you to consider those objectively. Review the story of what happened, and your story of why you think it happened. Then go back and review it again, but this time, notice that the real source of the problem is how you handled your growth. If you look carefully, you will discover that your relationship to growth is the common thread that connects almost every experience of sorrow and adversity in your life. By paying attention to how you measure your growth and how you use your resources, you can limit how much you sabotage yourself. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more you avoid optional suffering and adversity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Choose an example of a time when your behavior or choices created problems for you. How did your pursuit of growth contribute to the difficulties?

What are some other examples where your pursuit of growth created challenges for you?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Do you approach growth from lack consciousness? Do you see it as a limited resource that you have to compete for? Is that true? Why or why not?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with the vehicle of your adversity? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with the vehicle of your adversity? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with the vehicle of your adversity? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your growth is your blind spot; your blind spot is your growth.

Growth is your blind spot. It lurks in your unconscious, just outside of your field of vision, so you don't notice it until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving growth create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. When you grow and expand in all areas of your life, you check your blind spot regularly. You always proceed with caution when you access your untapped potential, because it's better to be safe than sorry. You still make mistakes, but because you own your mistakes and apologize for them, you limit the amount of resentment others feel towards you. When your growth is uneven and you are too much in some dimensions and not enough in others, you ignore your blind spot and move full speed ahead. This works until it doesn't, and you're blindsided by a problem. A little more attention or a timely apology could have nipped it in the bud. On a personal level, when you don't feel like you are growing, you are surrounded by hidden enemies. When you least expect it, they will trip you up, often using growth as a weapon against you. You would like to think that you are fully conscious of everything in your world because you believe that when you don't have a blind spot, you won't feel limited, stuck, or restricted.

Growth is about fulfilling your potential in every dimension. The only way to track your growth is to compare where you are now to where you were in the past. When you fulfill your current potential, the outer limits of your potential automatically expand, which creates new opportunities so you never feel stuck. If you encounter a boundary and feel limited or constrained by it, this means that you have unexplored potential somewhere else. If you push past the boundary and reach for more before you have made full use of what you have, you will be out of balance. You will be too much in some dimensions and not enough in others. This is especially important because growth is your blind spot. You don't always notice your growth across every dimension of your life. This can create imbalances that will blindside you and force you to deal with them when you least expect it.

The best way to evaluate your growth and locate your untapped potential is to engage with your blind spot. Because you don't normally see your blind spot, you have to make an extra effort to check it. You need to develop a habit of looking for growth in your life, much like you have a habit of looking both ways before you cross the street—and for precisely the same reason. It's not that you don't notice growth in your life. Rather it's that you don't see all of it. You miss the edges and the fringes, and that's where your growth creates problems for you, creating resentment in others and turning friends into hidden enemies. But with practice and attention, you can avoid being blindsided. The more you experience balanced growth in every dimension, the more conscious you are of your blind spot.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your growth and your blind spot resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your growth and your blind spot resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What is an example of a time when you were blindsided by a problem with growth?

Could you have avoided this experience if you had been paying attention to your blind spot with growth? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where has your pursuit of growth caused other people to resent you?

How have other people used growth against you?

How do you measure or evaluate growth with your blind spot? What do you use as a comparative reference?

Where do you feel that you are not enough with your blind spot? What are you basing this on? How will you know when you are enough?

Where do you feel that you are too much with your blind spot? What are you basing this on? What boundary did you cross and who created that boundary?

Your faith is the vehicle of your adversity; the vehicle of your adversity is your faith.

Faith is the vehicle of your adversity. Time and again, when you try to build and test your faith, it has unexpected, unintended, and unwelcome consequences. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, you manage to avoid most of the optional suffering in your life. You periodically check to see how other people perceive your behavior, especially your behaviors involving your faith, and you clean up whatever messes you have made before they become bigger problems. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, your behaviors are disruptive and create unnecessary problems and challenges. You approach faith from First Kingdom/Victim Consciousness and use force when you try to build and test your faith. This creates a counter-force that shows up as obstacles and adversity. You don't always see the connection between the cause and effect because there's often a delay and the adversity may not be directly related to your choices, but the adversity you experience is the Law of Attraction in action. You want to avoid suffering, sorrow, and adversity because you believe that without these problems, you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. You invest your faith in the vehicle of your adversity. You have faith that all of your sorrow and adversity will come from the same place, and you believe that makes it easier to handle. But the real source of your adversity is that your faith, whatever form it takes, lacks a foundation of truth. If you connect to the truth, you can limit the adversity you create for yourself.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with the vehicle of your adversity. Think of a few examples of situations where you have sabotaged yourself, created obstacles, or just unintentionally crossed a line or put your foot in your mouth. Focus on the smaller stories, because it will be easier for you to consider those objectively. Review the story of what happened, and your story of why you think it happened. Then go back and review it again, but this time, notice that the real source of the problem is how you handled your faith. If you look carefully, you will discover that your relationship to faith is the common thread that connects almost every experience of sorrow and adversity in your life. By paying attention to where you invest your faith and becoming more skilled with building and testing your faith, you can limit how much you sabotage yourself. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more you avoid optional suffering and adversity.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and the vehicle of your adversity resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

Choose an example of a time when your behavior or choices created problems for you. How did your pursuit of faith contribute to the difficulties?

What are some other examples where your pursuit of faith created challenges for you?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Do you approach faith from lack consciousness? Do you see it as a limited resource that you have to compete for? Is that true? Why or why not?

How do you invest your faith in the vehicle of your adversity? What is it that you take for granted about the vehicle of your adversity without questioning it?

How has your faith in the vehicle of your adversity supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in the vehicle of your adversity not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Your faith is your blind spot; your blind spot is your faith.

Faith is your blind spot. It lurks in your unconscious, just outside of your field of vision, so you don't notice it until it's too late. Your behaviors and actions involving faith create resentment in other people, and that resentment can turn friends into hidden enemies. When you actively build your faith and access it on a regular basis, you check your blind spot regularly. You always proceed with caution when you build and test your faith, because it's better to be safe than sorry. You still make mistakes, but because you own your mistakes and apologize for them, you limit the amount of resentment others feel towards you. But if you are not willing to test your faith, or even worse, if your faith is all for show and lacks a personal connection, you ignore your blind spot and move full speed ahead. This works until it doesn't, and you're blindsided by a problem. A little more attention or a timely apology could have nipped it in the bud. On a personal level, when you lack faith, you are surrounded by hidden enemies. When you least expect it, they will trip you up, often using your faith as a weapon against you. You would like to think that you are fully conscious of everything in your world because you believe that when you don't have a blind spot, you won't have to worry about being betrayed.

Sometimes the truth is just beyond the limits of your reality. You can grasp the idea that the Universe is infinite and all of your needs can easily be met, but you don't see the evidence of that in your life. This is what faith is for. Faith is how you build a bridge between your reality and the truth. Faith begins with an idea or a belief. You invest your energy in the idea so that it becomes real to you, and then you accept it without question. When your faith is built on objective truth, it will always support you. But if your faith lacks a foundation of truth, when you need it most, it will abandon you, leaving you broken and betrayed. This is especially challenging because your faith is your blind spot. Not only do you not question your faith, but also once you build your faith, you no longer notice it. You invest your faith in your blind spot and expect that anything that you don't see is not your business, and that means you will be protected from it. Unfortunately, this is not always true.

You can become conscious of your faith by engaging with your blind spot. Because you don't normally see your blind spot, you have to make an extra effort to check it. You need to develop a habit of looking for your faith in your life, much like you have a habit of looking both ways before you cross the street—and for precisely the same reason. It's not that you don't notice faith in your life. Rather it's that you don't see all of it. You miss the edges and the fringes, and that's where faith creates problems for you. You expect that your faith will pick up after you, and this attitude creates resentment in others and turns friends into hidden enemies. But with practice and attention, you can avoid being blindsided. The more you invest your faith in the truth, the more conscious you are of your blind spot.

LIGHT BULB QUESTIONS

What part of the description of your faith and your blind spot resonated the most with you? Where do you see this in your life? How does it show up for you?

What part of the description of your faith and your blind spot resonated the least with you? What about that description doesn't seem to apply to you and why?

What is an example of a time when you were blindsided by a problem with your faith?

Could you have avoided this experience if you had been paying attention to your blind spot with your faith? Why or why not?

PUZZLE QUESTIONS

Where has your pursuit of faith caused other people to resent you?

How have other people used faith against you?

How has your faith in your blind spot supported you? What are some examples of how that faith was justified?

How has your faith in your blind spot not supported you? What are some examples of how your faith was misplaced and you were betrayed?

Jupiter, the Ruler of your Twelfth House in Houses

The house occupied by the Ruler of the Twelfth House shows where you sabotage yourself and where your unconscious behavior creates resentments and hidden enemies. Pay close attention to how you use the resources of this house, because in the hands of the Sun, the Ruler of your Twelfth House, those resources may create problems for you.

JOURNAL QUESTIONS & INSTRUCTIONS

Begin by reviewing the chapter in the video lesson on Jupiter that explores the house that Jupiter, the Ruler of your Twelfth House occupies. Then locate and read the description of the house occupied by Jupiter, the Ruler of your Twelfth House. Now, go back and revisit each of the journal questions about how you experience Jupiter as the ruler of your Twelfth House, and notice how the house Jupiter occupies influences your understanding.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the First House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your First House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your personality and outer appearance. The resources of the First House include your health, your happiness, your appearance, and your very identity. You will use your personal interests and happiness to grow using your untapped potential, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to build and test your faith, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. You will use your personal interests and happiness to sabotage yourself, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. And you will use your personal interests and happiness to check your blind spot, and other people will notice this in your appearance and your personality. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your First House, affecting your avatar, your outer appearance, your happiness, and how much you enjoy your hobbies and interests. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your First House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Second House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Second House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your money and resources. The resources of the Second House include your money, your personal possessions, and the skills and talents you have that can be used to earn money. You will spend money and use your talents to grow using your untapped potential. You will spend money and use your talents to build and test your faith. You will spend money and use your talents to sabotage yourself. And you will spend money and use your talents to check your blind spot. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Second House, specifically because they encourage you to spend your money, but they don't necessarily help you to earn more money or connect to the truth of your prosperity. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Second House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Third House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Third House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your comfort zone. The resources of your Third House are all local, close, and familiar. You can communicate to your network to ask for support, but you will only call people you already know and have worked with before.

You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to build and test your faith, and you rarely consider new options. You rely on your familiar habits and local resources to sabotage yourself, and you rarely consider new options. And rely on your familiar habits and local resources to check your blind spot, and you rarely consider new options. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Third House, creating changes to your comfort zone that make it less familiar and less comfortable, and forcing you to pay attention to your habits and routines. In turn, this may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Third House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Fourth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Fourth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your private life. The resources of the Fourth House include your private and personal life, your home, real estate, tradition, and family connections. You do not want to be noticed when you grow using your untapped potential, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you build and test your faith, because it's personal and private. You do not want to be noticed when you sabotage yourself, because it's personal and private. And you do not want to be noticed when you check your blind spot, because it's personal and private. Your pursuit of privacy may disrupt your Fourth House, shaking the very foundation of your life. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fourth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Fifth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Fifth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your creativity and fun. The resources of the Fifth House include games, gambling, entertainment, art, creativity, and all forms of amusement and recreation. You are willing to take creative risks to grow using your untapped potential, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to build and test your faith, and you expect to have fun in the process. You are willing to take creative risks to sabotage yourself, and you expect to have fun in the process. And you are willing to take creative risks to check your blind spot, and you expect to have fun in the process. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Fifth House, especially if you don't feel that you have been creative enough or if you're not having fun. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Fifth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Sixth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Sixth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your job, your workplace environment, and your relationships with co-workers and employees. The resources of the Sixth House include hard work and selfless service. You expect to work hard to grow using your untapped potential, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to build and test your faith, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. You expect to work hard to sabotage yourself, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. And you expect to work hard to check your blind spot, and you rarely get recognized or rewarded for it. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Sixth House, especially because you are always looking for ways to lighten the workload, so you may try to hire someone to do the work for you, or failing that, you may create illness so you can call in sick. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Sixth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Seventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Seventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your one-to-one relationships. The resources of the Seventh House appear to be other individuals because you project everything associated with planets in your Seventh House on other people and you don't recognize that those qualities live in you. You expect other individuals to grow using your untapped potential for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to build and test your faith for you and may blame them if they don't. You expect other individuals to sabotage yourself for you and may blame them if they don't. And you expect other individuals to check your blind spot for you and may blame them if they don't. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Seventh House by creating difficulties in your one-to-one relationships. And while the problems will appear to be about other people, they're really your own issues. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Seventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Eighth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Eighth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your debts and shared resources. The resources of the Eighth house are other people's money, values, and opinions. This money is available to you in the form of loans, investments, or simply credit card debt. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to grow using your untapped potential. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to build and test your faith. You will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to sabotage yourself. And you will collaborate, use shared resources, ask for favors, or use other people's money to check your blind spot. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eighth House because they will increase your awareness of your debt, both personal (what you owe other people) and financial (the money you owe to others). This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eighth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the in the Ninth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Ninth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your danger zone. The resources of the Ninth House are all foreign, distant, new, unfamiliar, and unknown to you. They include experts and authorities that can offer wisdom and knowledge, such as teachers, religious leaders, lawyers, and doctors. You always require new information to grow using your untapped potential because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to build and test your faith because what you already know is not sufficient. You always require new information to sabotage yourself because what you already know is not sufficient. And you always require new information to check your blind spot because what you already know is not sufficient. These behaviors may cause disruption to your Ninth House because the new information you acquire may challenge and alter your beliefs. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Ninth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Tenth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Tenth House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your public and professional image. The resources of the Tenth House include your reputation, your public image, and the passwords to all of your social media accounts. You want to be famous for your ability to grow using your untapped potential, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to build and test your faith, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. You want to be famous for your ability to sabotage yourself, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. And you want to be famous for your ability to check your blind spot, so you broadcast it to the world and share it on social media. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Tenth House and affect both your personal and your professional reputation. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Tenth House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Eleventh House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Eleventh House, you encounter your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot in your ambitions and aspirations. The resources of the Eleventh House are your benefactors: friends, colleagues, and teammates who are in a position to support you and help you to acquire the things you believe will make you happy. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to grow using your untapped potential so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to build and test your faith so you can acquire happiness. You depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to sabotage yourself so you can acquire happiness. And you depend on the support and encouragement of your friends and benefactors to check your blind spot so you can acquire happiness. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Eleventh House and affect not only your ambitions and aspirations, but also the level of support you receive from your friends and benefactors. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Eleventh House.

Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in the Twelfth House

With Jupiter, the Ruler of the Twelfth House in your Twelfth House you are unconscious of your growth, your faith, the vehicle of your adversity, and your blind spot. The Twelfth House is above the horizon, so everything about planets in the Twelfth House is visible to others, but it's all in your blind spot, so you're the last to know about it. The resources of the Twelfth House include your hidden motivations, your unconscious programming, your shadow self, and your personal demons. You are not conscious of what motivates you to grow using your untapped potential, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to build and test your faith, and it will have unexpected consequences. You are not conscious of what motivates you to sabotage yourself, and it will have unexpected consequences. And you are not conscious of what motivates you to check your blind spot, and it will have unexpected consequences. These behaviors may cause disruptions to your Twelfth House, causing resentment and creating hidden enemies. This may affect your ability to meet the needs of the planet that rules your Twelfth House.